POPE HAS SETBACK, NEAR DEATH

Suffers New Crisis And Failing Fast

Rites Are Given; Had Appeared To Be Making Rally

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A sudden turn for the worse today brought Pope John XXIII to the threshold of death.

The Vatican press office announced he was given extreme unction and the communion viaticum, the sacraments administered to persons in danger of dying.

The 81-year-old spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church, who had appeared to be making a strong comeback from a near-fatal crisis Tuesday, was reported failing rapidly.

It was believed he had suffered a new outbreak of internal bleeding, provoked by a stomach growth that may be a benign tumor, a cancer, or an overgrowth of normal tissue.

To all members of the Vatican staff, the word went out: "Pray!"

Cardinals rushed to the Vatican. Only a few were admitted to the apartment where the Pope lay on a cast iron bed.

Among those admitted were Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state; Gustavo Cardinal Cento of the Vatican Curia, and Raimondo Manzini, director of L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

There was no word of the doctors there. Presumably the Pope's Roman doctor, Piero Mazzoni, was in the room. He had been sleeping in the palace for more than a week.

It was a dramatic turn in the illness of the pontiff.

This morning the Vatican had said the Pope was continuing to rally. The press office said he spend a tranquil night.

Prelates were looking ahead to the Pope resuming activity.

Suddenly came the crisis that his doctors had feared—a crisis at a time when he was still weak from the last one.

Doctors reported the hemorrhaging had been halted Wednesday. The Pope's personal doctor, Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, had returned to his home in Bologna.

Gasbarrini said he and his colleagues were confident the Pope would rally.

But he provided a possible clue to the new collapse.

He told newsmen then that Pope John should stay in bed, but had refused to do so.

Manzini, emerging from the sickroom, told newsmen the Pope had "suffered a complete reverse."

'An unexpected worsening, against all expectations, has occurred in the general condition of the Pope," he said.

Dr. Gasbarrini started back immediately from Bologna.

Although the press office had said the Pope had a quiet night, Manzini indicated the new crisis had its beginning before dawn.

"There was a state of uncertainty starting about midnight." Manzini said, and Dr. Mazzoni

3 Arrested In Hancock Bar 'Check'

Operator, Waitress Fined $100, 3rd Will Get Hearing

Hancock County sheriff's deputies made three arrests at Phil's Place on Route 30 east of Chester in a spot-check of taverns in the north end of the county late Wednesday night.

The licensee of the establishment, formerly known as the Cactus Bar, and a waitress were cited and later fined $100 and costs each by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland in connection with sale of beer to a 17-year-old Industry boy.

A hearing is slated Monday before Squire Herron for another waitress implicated in the case, the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny said today.

Charged with permitting beer to be dispensed in the tavern to a minor, Phillip L. Leydecker, the manager and licensee, was fined by Squire Herron after pleading innocent.

A similar penalty was meted out to Joyce Ann Koon, 25, of 235 Virginia Ave., Chester, a waitress, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, or dispensing the beer to him, deputies said. She also pleaded innocent and a hearing followed.

The two were found guilty of the charges on testimony of the 17-year-old boy, two 18-year-old companions, Chief Deputy Ed Frankovitch and Deputy Les Wehner of the sheriff's office, and Constable J. Carl Durham of Newell and Harold Davis of Chester.

The charges were filed at 11:02 p. m. Wednesday. Deputies returned at 12:59 to Phil's Place and charged Beatrice Hughes of Hookstown R. D. 1, a waitress, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Her hearing, for which she posted $106 bond, was set for Monday before Squire Herron. It was delayed because of the holiday.

Chief Deputy Frankovitch said the 17-year-old Beaver County boy was lodged in jail in New Cumberland Thursday, and was later released in the custody of his parents by Juvenile Officer John T. Grossi.

The officers also checked a number of other taverns along Route 30 but said they uncovered no other violations.

Squirrel Nips Caddy's Hand On Golf Links

A 12-year-old caddy at the Country Club ran into a new hazard on the golf course Thursday — he was nipped on the finger by a squirrel he attempted to pet.

Suspecting that the squirrel might have bene rabid or suffering from some other disease, the physician who treated the caddy took the animal's head to the city Health Department today and asked a laboratory examination.

The Health Department turned over the animal's head to Dog Warden Robert Croyle, who said it will be forwarded to the State Health Department laboratories at Columbus.

Perhaps the squirrel only was angered by the holiday disturbance in a normally calm Thursday, fellow caddies speculated.

The caddy was on the course with a party of golfers when he saw the squirrel approach. When he attempted to give it a friendly pat on the head, the little animal nipped his finger.

Suspecting that the animal might be diseased, a nearby golfer dispatched it with one of his clubs.

The youngster then went to the physician's office for treatment. The physician took the squirrel's head to the Health Department this morning and the dog warden then was notified.

The dog warden said if the examination proves the animal was rabid he will be notified overnight by telephone or wire. That will permit the victim to begin a series of treatments as soon as possible.

But if the test is negative, the result will be reported by mail, which takes two or three days.

Pilot Of Helicopter Lands In Futile Search For Fuel

The suburban quiet of Hoffman Estates in St. Clair Township was changed suddenly into an uproar early Thursday night by a crowd of about 200 attracted to the area when a helicopter made a forced landing for lack of fuel while on a flight from Wisconsin to Eastern Pennsylvania.

The businessman - pilot landed the big craft on a large tract of open ground near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl King. After almost an hour and a half of futile searching for a supply of 100 - octane gasoline in the area, he took off again, hoping to reach Blackhawk Airport back of Beaver Falls before his small supply of fuel ran out.

The pilot, Bern Lerson, explained that he resides in the Missouri Ozarks and was en route from Madison, Wisc., to Philadelphia. When he landed at Hoffman Estates, only 15 to 20 minutes' fuel was left, the pilot said.

King was outside his home about 6 last night when he saw the big helicopter circling the area. The pilot evidently was in trouble, as he made gestures indicating that he was seeking a landing place. The motor was "spitting" and King guessed the pilot was in trouble. So King signalled him to

Traffic Toll Hit Record For Holiday

141 Deaths Exceed Old Mark Of 109, Estimate Of 130

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic deaths hit a record high for a one-day observance of Memorial Day and surpassed the preholiday estimate of 130 by safety experts.

The death toll on the highways for the 30-hour holiday period, from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday, was 141. Belated reports are expected to boost the total. The previous record high for a one-day Memorial Day holiday was 109 in 1956.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 90 and 130 persons would be killed on the highways and streets during the holiday period. The council's latest report showed that traffic accidents in the first four months this year killed 11,630 persons, an average of nearly 100 a day.

This year's Memorial Day traffic death toll compared to 107 for the 1962 holiday, also a period of 30 hours. In 1951, the only other one-day observance of the holiday since World War II, traffic deaths numbered 81, which is a record low for any one-day observance of any holiday.

Generally fair weather in most of the country lured millions of persons to the highways in the first holiday of the warm season. Memoial Day is not a legal holiday in several southern states. Most workers in states which observed the holiday, available information indicates, were back on the job today, precluding an extended weekend holiday.

The traffic death toll compares with the record high of 253 for a one-day celebration of any holiday, set on Christmas Day in 1946.

The Associated Press made a survey of a recent non-holiday period of 30 hours, from 6 p.m. May 15 to midnight May 16, to provide a basis for comparison with Thursday's toll. The count showed 98 deaths in traffic. There also were 6 boating deaths and 9 drownings.

Drownings during the holiday period totaled 23 and 11 persons lost their lives in boating accidents.

Racial Issue Is Settled In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An agreement settling the racial dispute over alleged job discrimination was reached today as violence erupted again on the picket lines at a public school building project.

Details were not immediately available on the settlement reached in negotiations by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Building Trades Council and the Philadelphia Board of Education.

The NAACP began the picketing last Monday in support of protests that labor unions refused to accept Negro skilled laborers. Construction on the $6-million school in a predominantly Negro section virtually was halted.

At least 20 persons, including eight policemen, were hurt today as police led some 80 to 100 workmen through the picket lines to the building project.

It was not learned immediately how serious the injuries were, but at least four persons were taken to a hospital.

Pro-Peronist Unions Strike In Argentina

Press Government For Action To Ease Jobless Situation

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — After riotous demonstrations, Peronist labor unions launched a 24-hour general strike today to press for government action to ease unemployment.

The strike, aimed at paralyzing the troubled country, was called by the 2.5-million-member General Conferedation of Labor to climax a week of protest. The CGT is dominated by followers of former Dictator Juan D. Peron, now in exile in Spain.

All unions except the white collar workers have agreed to support the strike, which threatened to slow public transportation to a crawl.

Unions promised to keep skeleton crews manning utilities, hospitals, long distance telephones, airport control towers and other essential installations.

The strike began at midnight after a day of violence in which federal police used tear gas and high pressure water on about 12,000 marching workers. Half a dozen demonstrators were reported slightly injured.

In one clash, 5,000 men and women workers, led by Jose Alonso, CGT secretary-general, battled police for more than an hour until a police commissioner assured them they could demonstrate in peace.

Tear gas scattered 7,000 workers in another demonstration.

Red Guerrillas Kill 2 Yanks In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrillas apparently were gunning specifically for Americans when they ambushed a government patrol Wednesday, U.S. military authorities said today.

Two U.S. special forces advisers who led the patrol of 100 mountain tribesmen were the only ones killed. They were Capt. James Brodt, 30, of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Pfc. Neil K. MacIver, 19, of Silver Spring, Md.

"The advisers were much bigger than the other patrol members and it would have been easy for the Communists to pick them out," one military source said. "After they got the Americans, the guerrillas left in a hurry."

257 Arrested In Florida

Tear Gas Stalls Negroes' March

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Authorities used tear gas to stall one march by Negroes and arrested 257 during Thursday, the 10th straight day of antisegregation demonstrations in Florida's capital city.

Most of those arrested are students at Florida A&M (Negro) University, and 220 of them were ordered before State Judge Ben Willis today to answer contempt of court charges.

The other 37 are to appear in City Court Monday to face charges of unlawful assembly.

There was no violence during the marches, aimed at segregated movie theaters. A series of sit-in demonstrations some time ago resulted in the quiet desegregation of lunch counters in the business district.

Plans remained unchanged for another massive protest of segregation at two white theaters tonight.

The mass arrests in Tallahassee provided the major development on the racial front Thursday, but antisegregation activity was popping in many points across the nation.

Integrationists made plans to increase the tempo of demonstrations against segregation in Jackson, Miss.

A Negro spokesman said a massive, Birmingham-type campaign will be launched in Los Angeles with total elimination of discrimination as its goal.

Cities experiencing racial demonstrations Thursday included Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Baton Rouge, La., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Cambridge, Md.

In Tallahassee, the 220 jailed by county officers were part of a first protest before theater. An hour later, city police broke up a second march of approximately 200 Negroes and arrested 37 on charges of unlawful assembly.

The police used two tear gas bombs and a determined line to turn back the second group. The 37 arrested refused to leave the churchyard where they had taken refuge from the tear gas.

Circuit Judge Willis Thursday ordered that the protests be halted until after a hearing Monday following a complaint by Les Pendleton, a theater manager. Pendleton charged the demonstrations were hurting his business.

Two hours after the judge's rul-

Reds Seeking Arrest Of Ex-German Aide

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—An attorney for the Communist party sought the arrest Thursday of Franz Josef Strauss, accusing him of war crimes. The former West German defense minister, a visitor denied the charge.

Attorney Michael Landau asked Tel Aviv police to arrest Strauss. He asserted Strauss had responsibility for the death of a number of Jews, Czechs and Poles in a forced labor camp at Schongau in April 1945.

Stauss, at that time commander of an air defense school in Schongau, said there was a Soviet prisoner-of-war camp there, but no concentration camp.

Strauss, a guest of the Israel government, told a news conference:

Pro-Peronist Unions Strike In Argentina

Press Government For Action To Ease Jobless Situation

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — After riotous demonstrations, Peronist labor unions launched a 24-hour general strike today to press for government action to ease unemployment.

The strike, aimed at paralyzing the troubled country, was called by the 2.5-million-member General Confederation of Labor to climax a week of protest. The CGT is dominated by followers of former Dictator Juan D. Peron, now in exile in Spain.

All unions except the white collar workers have agreed to support the strike, which threatened to slow public transportation to a crawl.

Unions promised to keep skeleton crews manning utilities, hospitals, long distance telephones, airport control towers and other essential installations.

The strike began at midnight after a day of violence in which federal police used tear gas and high pressure water on about 12,000 marching workers. Half a dozen demonstrators were reported slightly injured.

In one clash, 5,000 men and women workers, led by Jose Alonso, CGT secretary-general, battled police for more than an hour until a police commissioner assured them they could demonstrate in peace.

Tear gas scattered 7,000 workers in another demonstration.

Red Guerrillas Kill 2 Yanks In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrillas apparently were gunning specifically for Americans when they ambushed a government patrol Wednesday, U.S. military authorities said today.

Two U.S. special forces advisers who led the patrol of 100 mountain tribesmen were the only ones killed. They were Capt. James Brodt, 30, of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Pfc. Neil K. MacIver, 19, of Silver Spring, Md.

"The advisers were much bigger than the other patrol members and it would have been easy for the Communists to pick them out," one military source said. "After they got the Americans, the guerrillas left in a hurry."

India Sets New Plan To Curb Reds In Asia

257 Arrested In Florida

Tear Gas Stalls Negroes' March

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Authorities used tear gas to stall one march by Negroes and arrested 257 during Thursday, the 10th straight day of antisegregation demonstrations in Florida's capital city.

Most of those arrested are students at Florida A&M (Negro) University, and 220 of them were ordered before State Judge Ben Willis today to answer contempt of court charges.

The other 37 are to appear in City Court Monday to face charges of unlawful assembly.

There was no violence during the marches, aimed at segregated movie theaters. A series of sit-in demonstrations some time ago resulted in the quiet desegregation of lunch counters in the business district.

Plans remained unchanged for another massive protest of segregation at two white theaters tonight.

The mass arrests in Tallahassee provided the major development on the racial front Thursday, but antisegregation activity was popping in many points across the nation.

Integrationists made plans to increase the tempo of demonstrations against segregation in Jackson, Miss.

A Negro spokesman said a massive, Birmingham-type campaign will be launched in Los Angeles with total elimination of discrimination as its goal.

Cities experiencing racial demonstrations Thursday included Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Baton Rouge, La., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Cambridge, Md.

In Tallahassee, the 220 jailed by county officers were part of a first protest before theater. An hour later, city police broke up a second march of approximately 200 Negroes and arrested 37 on charges of unlawful assembly.

The police used two tear gas bombs and a determined line to turn back the second group. The 37 arrested refused to leave the churchyard where they had taken refuge from the tear gas.

Circuit Judge Willis Thursday ordered that the protests be halted until after a hearing Monday following a complaint by Les Pendleton, a theater manager. Pendleton charged the demonstrations were hurting his business.

Two hours after the judge's rul-

Reds Seeking Arrest Of Ex-German Aide

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—An attorney for the Communist party sought the arrest Thursday of Franz Josef Strauss, accusing him of war crimes. The former West German defense minister, a visitor denied the charge.

Attorney Michael Landau asked Tel Aviv police to arrest Strauss. He asserted Strauss had responsibility for the death of a number of Jews, Czechs and Poles in a forced labor camp at Schongau in April 1945.

Stauss, at that time commander of an air defense school in Schongau, said there was a Soviet prisoner-of-war camp there, but no concentration camp.

Strauss, a guest of the Israel government, told a news conference:

"No one was killed in this area except through bombings in the course of purely military operations. I have a very clear record and a clean conscience."

Ambridge Youth Hurt In Dive At Guilford

LISBON — An Ambridge youth was in "serious" condition today in South Side Hospital in Youngstown with injuries suffered in a dive into shallow water at Guilford Lake Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

He received a fractured neck and compressed vertebra.

Robert Lamb, 18, told the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol that he struck his head on an object in the water diving at the public beach.

He was rushed to Salem City Hospital, then transferred to the emergency room at South Side.

Search Ship Photographs Thresher On Ocean Floor

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Searchers have photographed wreckage lying on the ocean floor some 8,400 feet below the surface and have identified it as the hull, diving plane and sail area of the nuclear submarine Thresher.

Thresher sank April 10 during a deep sea test dive with 129 men aboard.

The photographs, taken by the research vessel Conrad, were en route today to Boston. They will then be flown to the Navy Court of Inquiry at Portsmouth, N.H. The court is investigating the sea disaster, which occurred some 220 miles east of Boston.

The bathyscaphe Trieste is standing by in Boston, the Navy said, and will proceed to the scene if the Court of Inquiry decides more photographs are needed.

Dr. J. Lamar Worzel, assistant director of the Lamont Geological Observatory whose researchers photographed the wreckage Thursday, said the pictures were definitely of the sunken submarine.

Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force in Norfolk, Va., said the photographs "appeared to be definitely correlated with the missing submarine."

Experts have said that if the Thresher did sink to a depth of 8,400 feet, she could not possibly have survived. Water pressure at that level would be 3,730 pounds per square inch, compared with the sea-level pressure of 32 pounds.

The Trieste is constructed so that it can descend far deeper than 8,000 feet with men and cameras aboard and withstand the pressure.

The Conrad and other search vessels have obtained their photographs with underwater camera systems lowered by cable nearly a mile and a half below the water's surface.

Since April 10, Navy and civilian vessels have steadily circled the area trying to locate what became an underwater grave for 16 officers, 96 enlisted men and 17 civilian technicians.

The Thresher was commissioned at Portsmouth Shipyard in 1961. She was considered the most modern of the nuclear attack submarines.

She had left that port April 9 after a complete overhaul.

The next morning disaster struck.

Steady, On Regular Schedule

De Gaulle Runs France With Organized Routine

PARIS (AP)—As president of France, Charles de Gaulle runs his government with the steady, well organized routine of a general staff officer.

Orders move calmly through channels on regular schedule. There are no breathless post-midnight sessions, no hectic excitement.

When the president goes to bed, the story goes, the Elysee Place staff must not disturb him except in case of world war—and the accent is on the adjective.

Two aspects of De Gaulle's working methods betray the 72-year-old president as a man of another generation: he uses the telephone as little as possible, and he does not dictate streams of letters or memos.

A lot of mail pours into the Elysee Palace, and De Gaulle reads a surprisingly large amount of it.

He writes his comment on the margin, or below the body of the letter, and his instructions as to how it should be answered.

For speeches or major statements De Gaulle writes the text himself in longhand, frequently revising. De Gaulle's handwriting is so illegible that he then dictates the text to a secretary. When this is typed, the president usually makes further revisions, and this all has to be typed again.

This virtually is the only time that De Gaulle consents to dictate to a secretary.

The keynote of the Elysee Palace routine is to organize time so as to conserve the general's energies. One little note helps to evoke the general staff atmosphere: the Elysee Staff almost invariably refers to him as "Le General" instead of "Le President."

De Gaulle's habit in approaching a problem is to gather advice and all possible information from specialists and trusted subordinates, then make his own study, alone in his office or in his private living room.

Once he has made up his mind it is most difficult to change it. But his manner, according to persons near him, is not authoritarian.

De Gaulle puts in a sort of 5½-day week, from Monday morning to Saturday noon. Office hours on weekdays run from about 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. with a two-hour midday break.

Communists Shout Peace Corps Go Home

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A husband-and-wife team from Akron, Ohio, and 15 other Peace Corps volunteers who arrived in Indonesia Thursday were greeted by 150 chanting, slogan - waving Communist demonstrators shouting 'Peace Corps go home."

Despite the demonstration, there was no violence. Military troops and policemen in full battle gear lined the airport avenues to prevent any violent outbursts.

This Is Where We Came In

The Kennedy administration's triumph in Cuba has been watered down by so many doubts since last October that now it looks like a setback.

Here is Premier Khrushchev arranging to pay his protege Fidel Castro a visit of state, referring to Cuba as the "first socialist state in America" and thundering about driving the United States out of Guantanamo.

And here again is that pledge by President Kennedy not to invade Cuba in return for Russian withdrawal from Cuba, repeated this time in connection with a threat of nuclear warfare against the United States if the pledge ever is broken.

To complete the new surge of disquietude over Cuba, moreover, is a refugee report that the island is swarming with Russians, other reports of submarine bases being built on the Cuban coast and still other reports of Russian submarines frequenting Cuban waters.

ONLY A FOOL or an apologist can go on believing the United States came out on top in its "eyeball-to-eyeball" exchange with the Soviet Union last October.

A skeptic, on the other hand, finds it easy to believe that what happened last October looks more and more like a fiendish twist in the classic strategy of the Trojan horse.

This time, the folly was not opening the gates to let a treacherous enemy bring in a Trojan horse; it was the folly of believing a treacherous enemy who promised to take it out.

The United States, desperately wanting to think that its government at last had come out ahead in a brush with the Soviet Union, has bemused itself ever since with the illusion that its president told the Russians where to get off and they got off—right there.

NOTHING OF THE sort happened. Cuba never was more dangerous. Castro never was dug in tighter than he is right now. The United States never was more nervous about the proximity of the "first socialist state in America."

The "triumph" of last October has turned into a flop.

People Up Front That Count

In connection with Ohio's significant use of businessmen as key government officials and on a "little Hoover commission" studying state government, a familiar misconception is a sure bet to come up for discussion.

It is the misconception that what government stands to gain from businessmen is business methods. These are often out of place in government, it is pointed out.

Public affairs are operated according to laws and interpretations of laws. Executive decisions are controlled by legislative decisions that preceded them and judicial decisions that will grow out of them.

IN BUSINESS, an executive worthy of the name may have the privilege of running the show personally, subject only to his ability to command the confidence of a board of directors. In politics, an executive is subject not only to the constituents who elected him but to a vigilant political opposition, the judiciary and his own political party.

As many a businessman who tried to use his business methods in public life has learned, business life and public life are not the same thing. Yet, businessmen should be encouraged continuously to show interest in public life by accepting public responsibility.

It is the men who are needed, not the methods they know best.

In business as in politics there is undeviating interest in what is possible and how it can be done. Business is like politics in this respect. It is the art of the possible.

WHEN PUBLIC life is dominated by people who have not mastered the art of the possible, the country gets into trouble.

It needs a constant admixture of reality to act as an antidote for the boondogglers, fixers, do-gooders and fumblers who are attracted to it by the power embodied in government processes.

It is not business but businessmen who are needed in government.

It All Comes Back Now

Nothing official ever was done about a request for an investigation of the first Russian space orbit by Yuri Gagarin before the United States believed the story.

Skeptics were shunted aside by those who wanted so hard to believe orbital flight was possible they disregarded the discrepancies in Gagarin's reports and also the rumors that at least one Russian astronaut had been killed or maimed in a preceding attempt to orbit the earth.

They similarly disregarded the disturbing evidence that the Gagarin flight was a simulated endeavor, to cover up the tragic loss of an astronaut named Serge Ilyushin Jr., son of the famous Russian plane designer.

THE COMMUNIST London Daily Workers had received reports of a previous flight, with the information that the astronaut had been brought back to earth "suffering aftereffects."

Gagarin's accounts of his flight convinced some close listeners that he could not have done what it was purported he had done, or seen what he was purported to have seen.

It all comes back now with the news that an assistant administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is testifying about Russian space shot failures — as many as four failures, with the loss of as many as five astronauts.

THE QUESTION is still pending and unanswered in the United States as to what would happen if only one astronaut were to be lost. There would be no way to conceal the news of the tragedy here—no desire to conceal it.

Yet the first disaster would put a crimp in the program that it might take years to straighten out.

Futurists

If traveling from one time zone to another confuses you, consider the plight of those who, for commercial reasons, always must be thinking in the future.

First to come to mind are the creative geniuses who must know years in advance what features of an automobile will appeal to the consumer in a given year.

Then there are the fashion designers, who before one season's creations are on the market are unveiling styles for the season which will follow it.

Toy manufacturers traditionally show their Christmas wares to merchants in the heat of summer.

Florists fall in this category, too. When summer gardens are filled with zinnias, petunias, marigolds and other pretties, greenhouse benches are dominated by poinsettias; in winter, spring bulbs take over; in summer, the fall chrysenthemums.

One wonders, not if these futurists know what time it is, but what season it is. To be sure, they sometimes guess wrong, as witness Chrysler "Airflow," Ford's Edsel and the sack dress. But mostly they make us like what they have predetermined that we should like.

Purely Personal

I am always impressed with men who receive television and motion picture awards for professional competence—the non-actors. It's the same way everywhere. The competence is backstage, though the people out front get the applause.

Nothing bemuses me like the thought of a workable amphibious vehicle that would do double-duty as an auto and a pleasure craft—or as a trailer and a houseboat if you want to dream about the ultimate triumph of duality.

I like to show householders with grass problems what I can do with perennial rye grass as a quick-growing ground cover. The secret is to plant a light seeding of Kentucky blue grass at the same time and wait for the latter to establish itself at its leisure, which may take several years.

If I were one of a variety of growing things nipped by severe frost this season I would check in my leaves and call off the deal. As it is, I am strongly inclined to call off the deal as a would-be grower of things struggling with climatological adversity.

The more I think about it, the more certain I am that education is fundamentally discipline of the mind, in the same way that physical "education" is discipline of the body. Thus, much education is meaningless, except as mental exercise.

My idea of a splurge would be to own sun glasses with my optical correction ground into them. Never having been able to justify such extravagance, I do not even wear sun glasses but squint through narrowed lids if the sun gets too bright.

Every time I read about Red Chinese plans for taking over the world I remember that in the early days of World War II the Japanese were overlooked while everybody worried about the rest of the Axis.

Short - sleeved shirts seem ultra-sensible to me when worn by men who work with their coats off, but I reject the idea when I think of putting on a coat over a shirt with no cuffs. Why? Because I've never worn a coat without shirt cuffs showing at the sleeves. I'd feel as undressed as I do when wearing a shirt with no necktie.

Chief Justice Warren's call to duty of lawyers, who should be on the firing line whenever the Constitution is threatened, falls on deaf ears in parts of the country whose lawyers take the position that the Constitution can be scoffed at as far as the 14th amendment is concerned.

I think mountain climbers should be under a pledge to go up and come back alone, without endangering the lives of others in rescue expeditions so they can capitalize on being live climbers, instead of disaster victims.

From the time speed traps flourished in all hick towns and everybody drove at the risk of being robbed, I have seen no logic in whimsically enforced speed limits. They serve no purpose, other than to give the "Law" a license to harass motorists. If electronic devices could make it possible to hold all moving vehicles to a fixed maximum speed, fine. That would make sense. Cops clamping down on occasional drivers, eeny-meeny-miny-mo, make a nuisance.

Courting Disaster

Hoffa Snubbed On Global Plans

By Victor Riesel

Recently Jimmy Hoffa lifted his horizons slightly by revealing he was going global. With a look of most apparent sincerity he confided to a congressional committee that he soon would be dealing in international picket lines. Hoffa said he would dispatch picket squads to London and that the British "labor confederation" out of mutual "respect," would do the same for him in what would become worldwide strike action.

Victor Riesel

So I made contact with those new horizons of Hoffa's.

From the highest labor authority in Britain, I learned that the British confederation never heard of his plan. If they did they would not reciprocate. Furthermore they would not deal with Hoffa on such a sensitive international problem .

SO THERE be no doubt that this is another Hoffa foray into the art of Paul Bunyanesque legendry, here are excerpts from a letter written to me by Britain's top labor leader.

He is George Woodcock, general secretary of the British Trades Union Congress, (TUC), the nine-million-member labor organization covering the British Isles.

"In your letter of May 3 you asked me to comment on a reported statement by Mr. James Hoffa . . . that he had a long-range plan to send pickets to London with the British Labor Confederation sending pickets to the U.S.A. to make strikes against American transport firms more effective.

"The TUC itself would not think of intervening in the trade union affairs of the U.S.A. without consulting the AFL-CIO. But the question, if it ever moves beyond the hypothetical, seems to be one for the unions of transport workers to answer. Indeed, as the press cutting (clipping) you sent refers to European unions, it is perhaps more appropriately an issue for the International Transport Workers' Federation."

I pursued this further and could not find any support for Hoffa's global strike plans in the International Transport Workers' Federation (ITF), which has its world headquarters in London. There was curiosity and some disdain at the efforts to put it in the middle of a Hoffa propaganda offensive.

THERE'S MORE to all this than Hoffa's dreams of coordinating the transportation unions, today in the United States — tomorrow the world.

It is known only to a few, but once before when the heat was on, he attempted to move in international circles.

It was really not his idea in the past. The thought came to one of his advisers, an ex-Communist now as legendary in labor's inner sanctum as Paul Bunyan is in the grade schools of the land.

The adviser was the late Eddie Cheyfitz, who did his undergraduate work in a Moscow labor school during the '30s. Later he broke with the Communist apparatus. But he never forgot the value of international operations.

Some years ago he urged Hoffa to attempt to become one of the officers of the six-million-member International Transport Workers' Federation. Hoffa growled at him. The belligerent teamsters' chief said he'd be denounced as a left winger.

Cheyfitz replied — operate globally, what do you care what they denounce you for so long as they don't denounce you for other things at home. Hoffa said quite warily, okay, go and try.

THEY ATTEMPTED to make him an officer of the ITF world executive committee. They failed. Hoffa's people advised him to donate money to the huge British Transportation and General Workers' Union, which then was in a costly strike against the London bus system. They took his financial aid. But he got no kudos from them.

Some of Hoffa's aides spent considerable time in London and Europe attempting to whip up sentiment for their leader. They could not. But Hoffa never has forgotten the titilating temptation of international action.

Once again he has rolled out the proposal for global action — and, of course, worldwide leadership. It comes at a moment when the heat really is on.

I have just crisscrossed this country for some 8,000 miles. In very few circles does one find the belief that there is a vendetta between the government and Hoffa. Instead, in the universities, in many business and labor groups, and among civic leaders there is a real concern over what is developing.

By the latest count there were at least 126 indictments of teamsters and their associates. Of these 59 were convicted of embezzlement and other crimes involving the diversion of hundreds of thousands of dollars of union funds.

MOST STARTLING is the May 21 indictment of four men charged with attempting "to bribe or corruptly influence two jurors and at least 10 prospective jurors . . ." The Justice Department has charged — though it has been generally overlooked — that sums as high as $30,000 were involved in one alleged move. The total money mentioned in this jury tampering case is more than $75,000 in cash.

If proven true, these charges reveal the grossest contempt for our basic system of law and order.

The public will not be diverted from watching these trials when they start in Nashville on June 10.

Revolution In South

By James Marlow

Only Part Of Uprising Around World

WASHINGTON

The revolution taking place in the South now—where segregation is melting—is only part of a revolution around the world these past 10 years.

Many forces—few of them noble or unselfish—have shaped the revolution: Nationalism, fear, money or the lack of it, science, rivalry, education, affluence, poverty, stupidity and even the desire for real estate.

It was only nine years ago that the Supreme Court, very late in American history, laid down the principle that segregation is unconstitutional. The South could have embraced the principle instantly. It chose not to.

It has desegregated slowly under pressure of the courts, troops, public opinion (the North is far from pure on this subject), increasing Negro insistence, and businessmen's realization segregation is bad for business.

It was just 10 years ago that Stalin's death began a quiet revolution in the Communist world. He left it with such a smell his successors had to turn on the fan—in this case, denouncing him—to make communism plausible at all.

The Russian people were becoming too educated—and therefore skeptical—to submit indefinitely to the terrorism of Stalin's kind of communism. The de-Stalinization shocked not only the Russians but Communists everywhere.

Destroying the Stalin myth carried with it the destruction of some of Moscow's central control. Communist parties in the satellites and elsewhere in turn had to assert some independence to be plausible to their own people.

This opened the way for the various nationalisms to assert themselves, particularly when Moscow acknowledged there's more than one road to communism.

Moscow lost more control when it was financially unable to meet the needs of its satellites. This inability in part was due to its enormous use of men and resources to compete with the United States in space and nuclear weapons.

Although they kept arming, the Russians now seemed less eager for war because they had reached an affluence they were reluctant to risk in nuclear destruction.

The United States and Russia, out of fear of being outdone, made fantastic strides in science and the exploration of space although it is almost certain neither would be half so advanced if they hadn't dreaded each other so much.

The Red Chinese, no where near as affluent as the Russians and therefore less conservative about risks, have split with Moscow for not being belligerent or aggressive enough. They call it an ideological difference.

Ideology is probably a minor factor. A more practical one is the desire for more food and real estate which are available in Southeast Asia and which the Red Chinese no doubt will try to take when they feel strong enough.

The Chinese calling themselves better Marxists than the Russians looks more like an attempt at self-justification, for what they have in mind, than any real concern about world revolution.

For centuries the West Europeans suffered from the cancer of nationalism and are in a position now, if they could overcome the obsession about it, to achieve a unity unimagined before the war.

But French President Charles de Gaulle's persistent nationalism has forestalled it and what looked like a European unity may wind up as fragments in the ditch of time.

In Africa, where only three nations were free at the end of the big war, there are 28 free now. They met recently to discuss unity as a necessity for their salvation in a world of nations far stronger than themselves.

The only unity they achieved was in pious pronouncements which concealed their disunity since they are going through the painful period of nationalism which has afflicted everyone else, including the United States.

Except for Cuba the only real revolutions in Latin America is in the growing discontent of the masses—a discontent which seems certain to explode in blood baths—at the social and economic injustices inflicted upon them by the very rich who refuse to see the writing on the wall.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The Rev. E. R. Reed of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church was named president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

C. J. Berg was installed as president of the Wellsville Rotary Club and H. R. Frederick as vice president.

Improvements to the Klondyke school grounds were completed by city welfare department employes.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mary Laneve was installed as president of the Young Women's Community Club of Newell.

Patriotism was the theme of the 1943 annual Polaris, yearbook of Chester High School. Charlotte Wehner was editor.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and father of Paul Wilson, one of the graduates, gave the Baccalaureate sermon here.

Tommy Whippler, two-sports star at Chester High School, accepted an athletic scholarship at Mt. Union College.

The Big Name Hunt

By Terry Ferrer

Just about every working day of every year, a new college president is chosen in the United States.

Believe it or not, that is the way the statistics work out. There are 2,060 colleges and universities in this country. The average tenure for college presidents is eight years. Dropping off weekends and the usual group of holidays, that comes out to one new president each of the other days of the year.

But such facts do not alleviate the long and agonizing task of searching for the right man to head a particular institution. The search may take as much as 15 months (as it did for the University of Chicago to find Dr. George Wells Beadle).

Selection committees of trustees must talk to dozens of persons — educators, alumni, faculty members, even some people who call up and nominate themselves. The trustees must winnow and weigh, discuss and debate, and, eventually, make a choice.

THIS SERIOUS and probing manhunt has just started at one of the nations' most distinguished educational institutions, Yale University. On April 19, Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, Yale's president, died of cancer at his campus home. Just 56, he had been president for 13 years.

Yale's governing board then announced the appointment of two Yale Corporation committees charged with finding Yale's 17th president.

One committee will study the nature of the presidency in the light of present demands, the other will consult faculty, alumni and others about possible candidates.

The committees expect to meet jointly before making very preliminary reports to the next meeting of the Yale Corporation on June 10.

Finding the names is the harder of the two committee assignments.

The candidates' committee perhaps may consider the well-remembered qualifications set forth by Wilmarth Lewis of Farmington, Conn., now senior fellow of the Yale Corporation. As a member of the committee that selected Mr. Griswold in 1950, he told a Yale Club dinner during the search:

"Yale's next president must first of all be a Yale man and a great scholar — also a social philosopher who has at his fingertips a solution to all world problems. . . . He must be a good public relations man and an experienced fund raiser. . . . He must be a man of the world and yet he must also possess great spiritual qualities. . . . He must be a leader, not too far to the right, not too far to the left, and of course not too much in the middle. . . .

"As I have been talking," Mr. Lewis continued, "you have, I don't doubt, realized that there is only One who has most of these qualities. But there is a question even about Him: Is God a Yale man?"

THE CANDIDATES' committee must do some endless talking, with Yale faculty members and alumni and with some distinguished educators, who, as one of them put it, "can tell them who are the people who sit at the traffic points of the field."

Already some distinguished observers are wondering it it isn't time for Yale to have a non-Yale man as president. The only non-Yale man ever to become university president — in 1921—was Dr. James Rowland Angell, who attended the University of Michigan.

The salary of Yale's president has never been revealed. But in addition to the salary, he gets a liberal expense account and occupancy of a large, rambling mansion on Hillhouse Ave. on the campus.

Whoever the next president may be, he will probably agree with one college president's summary of the headaches, heartaches and rewards of the post. Dr. Richard Glenn Gettell, president since 1957 of Mount Holyoke College says:

"It's a hell of a job, a killing sort of job. But it is so stimulating, so worthwhile that you have to do it right up to the point of killing."

This Is Where We Came In

The Kennedy administration's triumph in Cuba has been watered down by so many doubts since last October that now it looks like a setback.

Here is Premier Khrushchev arranging to pay his protege Fidel Castro a visit of state, referring to Cuba as the "first socialist state in America" and thundering about driving the United States out of Guantanamo.

And here again is that pledge by President Kennedy not to invade Cuba in return for Russian withdrawal from Cuba, repeated this time in connection with a threat of nuclear warfare against the United States if the pledge ever is broken.

To complete the new surge of disquietude over Cuba, moreover, is a refugee report that the island is swarming with Russians, other reports of submarine bases being built on the Cuban coast and still other reports of Russian submarines frequenting Cuban waters.

ONLY A FOOL or an apologist can go on believing the United States came out on top in its "eyeball-to-eyeball" exchange with the Soviet Union last October.

A skeptic, on the other hand, finds it easy to believe that what happened last October looks more and more like a fiendish twist in the classic strategy of the Trojan horse.

This time, the folly was not opening the gates to let a treacherous enemy bring in a Trojan horse; it was the folly of believing a treacherous enemy who promised to take it out.

Cheyfitz replied — operate globally, what do you care what they denounce you for so long as they don't denounce you for other things at home. Hoffa said quite warily, okay, go and try.

THEY ATTEMPTED to make him an officer of the ITF world executive committee. They failed. Hoffa's people advised him to donate money to the huge British Transportation and General Workers' Union, which then was in a costly strike against the London bus system. They took his financial aid. But he got no kudos from them.

Some of Hoffa's aides spent considerable time in London and Europe attempting to whip up sentiment for their leader. They could not. But Hoffa never has forgotten the titilating temptation of international action.

Once again he has rolled out the proposal for global action — and, of course, worldwide leadership. It comes at a moment when the heat really is on.

I have just crisscrossed this country for some 8,000 miles. In very few circles does one find the belief that there is a vendetta between the government and Hoffa. Instead, in the universities, in many business and labor groups, and among civic leaders there is a real concern over what is developing.

By the latest count there were at least 126 indictments of teamsters and their associates. Of these 59 were convicted of embezzlement and other crimes involving the diversion of hundreds of thousands of dollars of union funds.

MOST STARTLING is the May 21 indictment of four men charged with attempting "to bribe or corruptly influence two jurors and at least 10 prospective jurors . . ." The Justice Department has charged — though it has been generally overlooked — that sums as high as $30,000 were involved in one alleged move. The total money mentioned in this jury tampering case is more than $75,000 in cash.

If proven true, these charges reveal the grossest contempt for our basic system of law and order.

The public will not be diverted from watching these trials when they start in Nashville on June 10.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The Rev. E. R. Reed of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church was named president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

C. J. Berg was installed as president of the Wellsville Rotary Club and H. R. Frederick as vice president.

Improvements to the Klondyke school grounds were completed by city welfare department employes.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mary Laneve was installed as president of the Young Women's Community Club of Newell.

Patriotism was the theme of the 1943 annual Polaris, yearbook of Chester High School. Charlotte Wehner was editor.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and father of Paul Wilson, one of the graduates, gave the Baccalaureate sermon here.

Tommy Whippler, two-sports star at Chester High School, accepted an athletic scholarship at Mt. Union College.

Today In History

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1889, between two and three thousand lives were lost at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, when heavy rains caused the dam across South Fork, 12 miles above the city, to burst. Fire at wreckage piled up at a railroad bridge added to the horror and inspired a four million dollar relief fund—one of the first such reponses to a disaster.

On this date

In 1790, the first copyright law was passed by Congress.

In 1862, the Battle of Fair Oaks, Virginia & one of the bloodiest encounters of the Civil War — was fought.

In 1916, the naval Battle of Jutland began in the North Sea.

In 1926, the Sesquicentennial Exposition opened in Philadelphia.

In 1941, the British evacuated the Island of Crete.

Revolution In South

By James Marlow

Only Part Of Uprising Around World

WASHINGTON

The revolution taking place in the South now—where segregation is melting—is only part of a revolution around the world these past 10 years.

Many forces—few of them noble or unselfish—have shaped the revolution: Nationalism, fear, money or the lack of it, science, rivalry, education, affluence, poverty, stupidity and even the desire for real estate.

It was only nine years ago that the Supreme Court, very late in American history, laid down the principle that segregation is unconstitutional. The South could have embraced the principle instantly. It chose not to.

It has desegregated slowly under pressure of the courts, troops, public opinion (the North is far from pure on this subject), increasing Negro insistence, and businessmen's realization segregation is bad for business.

It was just 10 years ago that Stalin's death began a quiet revolution in the Communist world. He left it with such a smell his successors had to turn on the fan—in this case, denouncing him—to make communism plausible at all.

The Russian people were becoming too educated—and therefore skeptical—to submit indefinitely to the terrorism of Stalin's kind of communism. The de-Stalinization shocked not only the Russians but Communists everywhere.

Destroying the Stalin myth carried with it destruction of some of Moscow's central control. Communist parties in the satellites and elsewhere in turn had to assert some independence to be plausible to their own people.

This opened the way for the various nationalisms to assert themselves, particularly when Moscow acknowledged there's more than one road to communism.

Moscow lost more control when it was financially unable to meet the needs of its satellites. This inability in part was due to its enormous use of men and resources to compete with the United States in space and nuclear weapons.

Although they kept arming, the Russians now seemed less eager for war because they had reached an affluence they were reluctant to risk in nuclear destruction.

The United States and Russia, out of fear of being outdone, made fantastic strides in science and the exploration of space although it is almost certain neither would be half so advanced if they hadn't dreaded each other so much.

The Red Chinese, no where near as affluent as the Russians and therefore less conservative about risks, have split with Moscow for not being belligerent or aggressive enough. They call it an ideological difference.

Ideology is probably a minor factor. A more practical one is the desire for more food and real estate which are available in Southeast Asia and which the Red Chinese no doubt will try to take when they feel strong enough.

The Chinese calling themselves better Marxists than the Russians looks more like an attempt at self-justification, for what they have in mind, than any real concern about world revolution.

For centuries the West Europeans suffered from the cancer of nationalism and are in a position now, if they could overcome the obsession about it, to achieve a unity unimagined before the war.

But French President Charles de Gaulle's persistent nationalism has forestalled it and what looked like a European unity may wind up as fragments in the ditch of time.

In Africa, where only three nations were free at the end of the big war, there are 28 free now. They met recently to discuss unity as a necessity for their salvation in a world of nations far stronger than themselves.

The only unity they achieved was in pious pronouncements which concealed their disunity since they are going through the painful period of nationalism which has afflicted everyone else, including the United States.

Except for Cuba the only real revolutions in Latin America is in the growing discontent of the masses—a discontent which seems certain to explode in blood baths—at the social and economic injustices inflicted upon them by the very rich who refuse to see the writing on the wall.

The Big Name Hunt

By Terry Ferrer

Just about every working day of every year, a new college president is chosen in the United States.

Believe it or not, that is the way the statistics work out. There are 2,060 colleges and universities in this country. The average tenure for college presidents is eight years. Dropping off weekends and the usual group of holidays, that comes out to one new president each of the other days of the year.

But such facts do not alleviate the long and agonizing task of searching for the right man to head a particular institution. The search may take as much as 15 months (as it did for the University of Chicago to find Dr. George Wells Beadle).

Selection committees of trustees must talk to dozens of persons — educators, alumni, faculty members, even some people who call up and nominate themselves. The trustees must winnow and weigh, discuss and debate, and, eventually, make a choice.

THIS SERIOUS and probing manhunt has just started at one of the nations' most distinguished educational institutions, Yale University. On April 19, Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, Yale's president, died of cancer at his campus home. Just 56, he had been president for 13 years.

Yale's governing board then announced the appointment of two Yale Corporation committees charged with finding Yale's 17th president.

One committee will study the nature of the presidency in the light of present demands, the other will consult faculty, alumni and others about possible candidates.

The committees expect to meet jointly before making very preliminary reports to the next meeting of the Yale Corporation on June 10.

Finding the names is the harder of the two committee assignments.

The candidates' committee perhaps may consider the well-remembered qualifications set forth by Wilmarth Lewis of Farmington, Conn., now senior fellow of the Yale Corporation. As a member of the committee that selected Mr. Griswold in 1950, he told a Yale Club dinner during the search:

"Yale's next president must first of all be a Yale man and a great scholar — also a social philosopher who has at his fingertips a solution to all world problems. . . . He must be a good public relations man and an experienced fund raiser. . . . He must be a man of the world and yet he must also possess great spiritual qualities. . . . He must be a leader, not too far to the right, not too far to the left, and of course not too much in the middle. . . .

"As I have been talking," Mr. Lewis continued, "you have, I don't doubt, realized that there is only One who has most of these qualities. But there is a question even about Him: Is God a Yale man?"

THE CANDIDATES' committee must do some endless talking, with Yale faculty members and alumni and with some distinguished educators, who, as one of them put it, "can tell them who are the people who sit at the traffic points of the field."

Already some distinguished observers are wondering it it isn't time for Yale to have a non-Yale man as president. The only non-Yale man ever to become university president — in 1921—was Dr. James Rowland Angell, who attended the University of Michigan.

The salary of Yale's president has never been revealed. But in addition to the salary, he gets a liberal expense account and occupancy of a large, rambling mansion on Hillhouse Ave. on the campus.

Whoever the next president may be, he will probably agree with one college president's summary of the headaches, heartaches and rewards of the post. Dr. Richard Glenn Gettell, president since 1957 of Mount Holyoke College says:

"It's a hell of a job, a killing sort of job. But it is so stimulating, so worthwhile that you have to do it right up to the point of killing."

Malacca, one of the oldest cities in the Federation of Malaya, is the earliest seat of the Christian faith in southeast Asia. Once a great Malay Sultanate, it became a European colony in the 16th century. It was ruled successively by the Portuguese, Dutch, and British, until Malaya's independence six years ago.

No One Is Killed In Ohio Traffic Memorial Day

By The Associated Press

Ohio weathered the onslaught of Memorial Day traffic and, by the time the first 30 hours of the holiday weekend had passed, not a single traffic fatality was recorded on the state's roads.

The death-free holiday was encouraging to state highway officials, who had predicted that 27 persons would die on Ohio roads before the 102-hour holiday weekend ended.

The holdiay period began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continues through midnight Sunday.

The state also was free of other types of accidental deaths as well—boating, drowning and miscellaneous.

This contrasted with the 24 persons killed in traffic accidents and 4 others in miscellaneous mishaps over the Memorial Day weekend a year ago.

Boy, 11, Kills Self With Souvenir Gun

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eleven-year-old Camille Tomaro found his father's World War II souvenir gun Thursday and killed himself with it, police reported.

The father is Anthony C. Tomaro, a Cleveland Heights patrolman, who found the .38-caliber gun in a cave on Okinawa. Police Sgt. Myron Lodwick said Camille fired a bullet into his right temple with the gun, which was so rusted the chamber couldn't be opened.

Crowds View Area Parades

inently in the half-hour parade of marching groups, with the bands from East Liverpool and Beaver Local High Schools providing the stirring music.

The city's observance began with a ceremony on the Chester Bridge, and was followed by the parade and memorial services at City Hall, where Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, an officer in the Army Reserve, was principal speaker.

590 Flags Displayed In Wellsville Count

A total of 590 flags — a record high — were counted in Wellsville Thursday by William Spires, World War I veteran, in his customary holiday flag check. In 1962 a total of 560 flags were out on Memorial Day.

Spires said another count is planned for Flag Day June 14. He praised the impressive display of flags, the most he has tabulated since he began counting in 1955.

Lt. Col. Brown traced the history of Memorial Day, pointing out it began in Columbus, Miss., 100 years ago with strewing of flowers on graves of fallen Confederate soldiers. Noticing the drab, cold-appearing graves of Union soldiers, the women added more flowers, and the practice later spread nationally and Memorial Day was set aside for the practice of decorating cemeteries and honoring the war dead, Brown said.

Using excerpts from President Kennedy's State of the Union message, Brown explained that the nation's arsenal of defense on the upswing is intended to make America appear strong and is to be a deterrent against aggression.

He also dwelled on push-button warfare, pointing out that automation could not win any war, "it takes men to win a war, and that's our most priceless possession." "We would rather give up a lot of machines than to lose one man," he said.

In other remarks, Lt. Col. Brown discussed American conflicts from the Civil War through World War II to the space age, and supporting by citizens of national security to keep the country strong to deter another war.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet was master of ceremonies. Leroy Fotheringham of DAV Post 47 was general chairman of the observance.

About 400 attended a program at Springhill Cemetery at Wellsville, at which Atty. Howard Cole of Lisbon was the principal speaker.

The program began with a flag-raising ceremony at Riverside Park, followed by a parade to the 4th St. Memorial. The procession then moved to the cemetery for the program.

About 350 attended Memorial Day services at Locust Hill Cemetery conducted by Chester American Legion Post 121.

The Rev. Paul Dippolito of the First Methodist Church spoke on the theme, "Milestones or Mockery."

"God gave a Son to make the Christian Flag possible; we gave our sons to make the American Flag possible," he said.

"To violate the principles, the truths, the civil and moral laws for which they died is to make Memorial Day a mockery," the minister declared.

The Chester High School band played, and wreathes were placed by the Gold Star Mothers. Jack Huff, commander, welcomed the audience, the Rev. Donald Vogel gave the invocation. "Taps" was played by Jim Wilson and Pat Treleven of the band.

A memorial service was held at the Lawrenceville American Legion post with Charles Huffman, 1st District vice commander, as master of ceremonies. Prayers were given by Edward Pope, acting chaplain, and Mrs. Reva Price president of the auxiliary.

The Grant District Burial Group was in charge of the flag raising and rifle salute. The group also held flag raising ceremonies at the Chester Legion and VFW posts.

At Salineville, about 200 attended Memorial Day services Thursday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic Cemetery.

Dean Wright, commander of American Legion Post 442, was speaker.

Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool spoke at services Thursday afternoon at Woodland Cemetery, attended by some 300.

An estimated 250, one of the largest crowds ever, turned out for Newell's Memorial Day program at the gates of Memorial Athletic Field near Wells High School.

The program was sponsored by American Legion Post 114 and auxiliary, with Lawrence Rush as general chairman. The Rev. Russell Mase of Emmanuel Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool was principal speaker.

A new, 50-star flag was presented Hookstown American Legion Post 952 by Dale Lance, district committeeman for Rep. Frank Clark, at Memorial Day services Thursday at the post home.

The flag had flown over the Capital in Washington. Services were held at Mill Creek, Frankfort Springs and Hookstown Cemeteries. In charge were Joe Krizan, commander, Charles Custer, chaplain, and Steve Belich, sergeant-at-arms.

Skies became overcast several times during the day as clouds moved in but the sun soon returned and there was no rain to mar the holiday.

Stratton Dam reported an afternoon high of 72 degrees after a morning low of 55. The weather was mild but not as warm as had been expected.

About 5,000 were at Rock Springs Park Thursday afternoon and evening, Robert Hand, park manager, said. A fireworks display was featured last night.

land on a large tract of open ground near the King's home.

Shortly after the helicopter landed, a crowd estimated at 200 was attracted to the quiet suburban residential area, which lies off Lisbon St. Ext. between LaCroft and Glenmoor.

After the pilot explained his trouble, Mr. and Mrs. King volunteered to help him locate a new supply of high-octane gasoline. They telephoned airports throughout the area and also queried everyone they could think of who is familiar with flying and might know where the 100-octane gasoline could be obtained.

But the quest was fruitless. When the pilot learned that the 100-octane gasoline could be obtained at Blackhawk, he figuratively crossed his fingers and took off again about 7:25.

Mrs. Virginia King served coffee to the pilot while her husband and several other men were making a series of telephone calls in an attempt to locate the fuel.

The pilot told the Kings he flew from the Ozarks to the Wisconsin city to attend his daughter's graduation rites at a college there. Then he took off again yesterday morning, headed for Philadelphia.

The pilot said he was following the Ohio Turnpike, but became lost somehow and wandered south toward East Liverpool. He said he lost two hours' flying time in wandering around in the air trying to locate his route again.

Mrs. King said the helicopter was a large model, capable of carrying several passengers.

Beaver Falls authorities said today the pilot landed safely at the Beaver County Airport at Blackhawk at 8 p.m. He refueled, then stayed overnight, departing for Philadelphia this morning.

Crowds View Area Parades

inently in the half-hour parade of marching groups, with the bands from East Liverpool and Beaver Local High Schools providing the stirring music.

The city's observance began with a ceremony on the Chester Bridge, and was followed by the parade and memorial services at City Hall, where Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, an officer in the Army Reserve, was principal speaker.

Lt. Col. Brown traced the history of Memorial Day, pointing out it began in Columbus, Miss., 100 years ago with strewing of flowers on graves of fallen Confederate soldiers. Noticing the drab, cold-appearing graves of Union soldiers, the women added more flowers, and the practice later spread nationally and Memorial Day was set aside for the practice of decorating cemeteries and honoring the war dead, Brown said.

Using excerpts from President Kennedy's State of the Union message, Brown explained that the nation's arsenal of defense on the upswing is intended to make America appear strong and is to be a deterrent against aggression.

He also dwelled on push-button warfare, pointing out that automation could not win any war, "it takes men to win a war, and that's our most priceless possession." "We would rather give up a lot of machines than to lose one man," he said.

In other remarks, Lt. Col. Brown discussed American conflicts from the Civil War through World War II to the space age, and supporting by citizens of national security to keep the country strong to deter another war.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet was master of ceremonies. Leroy Fotheringham of DAV Post 47 was general chairman of the observance.

About 400 attended a program at Springhill Cemetery at Wellsville, at which Atty. Howard Cole of Lisbon was the principal speaker.

The program began with a flag-raising ceremony at Riverside Park, followed by a parade to the 4th St. Memorial. The procession then moved to the cemetery for the program.

About 350 attended Memorial Day services at Locust Hill Cemetery conducted by Chester American Legion Post 121.

The Rev. Paul Dippolito of the First Methodist Church spoke on the theme, "Milestones or Mockery."

"God gave a Son to make the Christian Flag possible; we gave our sons to make the American Flag possible," he said.

"To violate the principles, the truths, the civil and moral laws for which they died is to make Memorial Day a mockery," the minister declared.

The Chester High School band played, and wreathes were placed by the Gold Star Mothers. Jack Huff, commander, welcomed the audience, the Rev. Donald Vogel gave the invocation. "Taps" was played by Jim Wilson and Pat Treleven of the band.

A memorial service was held at the Lawrenceville American Legion post with Charles Huffman, 1st District vice commander, as master of ceremonies. Prayers were given by Edward Pope, acting chaplain, and Mrs. Reva Price president of the auxiliary.

The Grant District Burial Group was in charge of the flag raising and rifle salute. The group also held flag raising ceremonies at the Chester Legion and VFW posts.

At Salineville, about 200 attended Memorial Day services Thursday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic Cemetery.

Dean Wright, commander of American Legion Post 442, was speaker.

Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool spoke at services Thursday afternoon at Woodland Cemetery, attended by some 300.

An estimated 250, one of the largest crowds ever, turned out for Newell's Memorial Day program at the gates of Memorial Athletic Field near Wells High School.

The program was sponsored by American Legion Post 114 and auxiliary, with Lawrence Rush as general chairman. The Rev. Russell Mase of Emmanuel Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool was principal speaker.

A new, 50-star flag was presented Hookstown American Legion Post 952 by Dale Lance, district committeeman for Rep. Frank Clark, at Memorial Day services Thursday at the post home.

The flag had flown over the Capital in Washington. Services were held at Mill Creek, Frankfort Springs and Hookstown Cemeteries. In charge were Joe Krizan, commander, Charles Custer, chaplain, and Steve Belich, sergeant-at-arms.

Skies became overcast several times during the day as clouds moved in but the sun soon returned and there was no rain to mar the holiday.

Stratton Dam reported an afternoon high of 72 degrees after a morning low of 55. The weather was mild but not as warm as had been expected.

About 5,000 were at Rock Springs Park Thursday afternoon and evening, Robert Hand, park manager, said. A fireworks display was featured last night.

A total of 590 flags — a record high — were counted in Wellsville Thursday by William Spires, World War I veteran, in his customary holiday flag check. In 1962 a total of 560 flags were out on Memorial Day.

Spires said another count is planned for Flag Day June 14. He praised the impressive display of flags, the most he has tabulated since he began counting in 1955.

Please Come To Order

Class In Double Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The class in double talk will please come to order.

Double talk is a sure way to social success in a world where oral honesty is not only suspect—it's downright unwelcome.

As a reminder of double talk in action here are a few everyday examples—plus their literal translations:

"I certainly agree with you that Marcel Proust was one of the most introspective minds of the 20th century." He puts me to sleep, too.

"Oh, it was just an accident—I don't believe you spilled more than a drop or two on me. Forget it, please." I wonder if everyone in your family was born with 10 thumbs.

"I'm sorry. I didn't realize you were trying to park your car in this space, too." Whew—you almost beat me to it! Better luck next time, pal.

"Don't be so impatient, dear. I told you I'd be dressed in five more minutes." And in an hour and five more minutes, I may be.

"Congratulations, Jack. It's a well-earned promotion—and it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy." If I pull out my handkerchief and start bawling, this jerk will know how envious I really am.

"The last time I played golf, I made it around in—let me think now—86, as I recall." Or could that have been my last bowling score?

"Why, what a darling baby, Jim. He's the exact spitting image of you." Now take him away, and let him drool on someone else.

"What a screaming coincidence, Effie. We're wearing the same dress." You copy-cat, you! I could claw your eyes out, right here and now.

"I'm always glad to talk things over with you fellows from the Internal Revenue Service. You're so understanding." I wonder how much he's found out.

"I wouldn't marry him if he were the last man on earth." Anyway, he's never asked me to.

"I swear, John, it wasn't me who put the scratch on that fender." No, it wasn't me—it was the garage door.

"I could sit and hear you talk on this subject for hours—it's so interesting." Babble on, blabbermouth, who's listening?

"I take it as a real compliment, Arnold, that a man with brains like you would want to play chess with a dumb bunny like me." But if you ever try to get me to play a game after we're married, I'll bust the set over your little round skull.

Man Takes Jet Flight On His 100th Birthday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — William Robert Huckaby did something different Thursday on his 100th birthday—he flew in a jet airliner from Houston to Dallas.

"First time in the air in my life," he said, "but it's not too much different from settin' in the living room."

Huckaby, a retired farmer, lives with a son at Pasadena, a Houston suburb.

"Never fought a war, never killed a man, never took a drink, used tobacco or cussed," Huckaby summed up his long life.

Is that the reason he's still going strong at 100?

"Oh no," he said. "Just too busy working to count the years, and pretty soon they mounted up."

Lisbon Has Collision

LISBON — Cars driven by Larry E. McLaughlin, 20, of 146 Sherman St., and Homer F. Smith, 23, of Allison, Pa., sideswiped in the Public Square Wednesday at 8:10 p. m. and police said the only damage was a strip of chrome knocked from a fender of the local man's car.

Officer Cites Man In Crash On W. 8th St.

An East End man was cited on three charges Thursday afternoon at 2:50 after a two-way collision on the "super-road" stretch of W. 8th St. at Division St., officers said.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes cited Charles L. Copestick, 22, of 871 Valley Ave. following a mishap that involved the East End man's 1952 four-door sedan and a 1958 two-door sedan operated by Theresa Johnson, 43, of Wellsville R.D. 1.

Copestick was accused of failure to yield the right-of-way, driving while his operator's permit was under revocation and driving without a license.

Copestick drove his auto off Division St. and did not grant the right-of-way to the Johnson auto, which was moving west along W. 8th St., Officer Hayes reported.

The collision damaged the front of Copestick's car and the right side of the Johnson auto, officers said.

Copestick was sentenced to two County Jail terms totaling 30 days and fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to all three charges at arraignment this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Copestick was given a 20 - day term on the charge of driving while his permit was under revocation and a 10-day term on the charge of driving without a license. The fine was imposed on the charge of failing to yield the right-of-way. He also was ordered to pay the costs in each case.

Questioned by the court, Copestick said his driver's license was revoked eight months ago under Ohio's Financial Responsibility Law. He said he had been driving the car "four or five days" without a permit, although he knew he was wrong. Copestick said he works as a cosmetics salesman.

Only one other mishap was reported in East Liverpool over the holiday.

Thomas H. Wolfe, 439 Thompson Ave., told police his 1957 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle while parked near his home between 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:50 a.m. yesterday.

Wolfe reported the mishap to police at 1:40 p.m. yesterday. He said the crash damaged the left front fender, bumper and grill of his car.

Class In Double Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The class in double talk will please come to order.

Double talk is a sure way to social success in a world where oral honesty is not only suspect—it's downright unwelcome.

As a reminder of double talk in action here are a few everyday examples—plus their literal translations:

"I certainly agree with you that Marcel Proust was one of the most introspective minds of the 20th century." He puts me to sleep, too.

"Oh, it was just an accident—I don't believe you spilled more than a drop or two on me. Forget it, please." I wonder if everyone in your family was born with 10 thumbs.

"I'm sorry. I didn't realize you were trying to park your car in this space, too." Whew—you almost beat me to it! Better luck next time, pal.

"Don't be so impatient, dear. I told you I'd be dressed in five more minutes." And in an hour and five more minutes, I may be.

"Congratulations, Jack. It's a well-earned promotion—and it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy." If I pull out my handkerchief and start bawling, this jerk will know how envious I really am.

"The last time I played golf, I made it around in—let me think now—86, as I recall." Or could that have been my last bowling score?

"Why, what a darling baby, Jim. He's the exact spitting image of you." Now take him away, and let him drool on someone else.

"What a screaming coincidence, Effie. We're wearing the same dress." You copy-cat, you! I could claw your eyes out, right here and now.

"I'm always glad to talk things over with you fellows from the Internal Revenue Service. You're so understanding." I wonder how much he's found out.

"I wouldn't marry him if he were the last man on earth." Anyway, he's never asked me to.

"I swear, John, it wasn't me who put the scratch on that fender." No, it wasn't me—it was the garage door.

"I could sit and hear you talk on this subject for hours—it's so interesting." Babble on, blabbermouth, who's listening?

"I take it as a real compliment, Arnold, that a man with brains like you would want to play chess with a dumb bunny like me." But if you ever try to get me to play a game after we're married, I'll bust the set over your little round skull.

Youth Critically Hurt As Aerial Bomb Explodes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An aerial bomb apparently set by pranksters exploded in the face of a 14-year-old boy Thursday night, injuring him critically.

Outdoor graduation ceremonies were under way across the street at Kettering Fairmont High School as the boy, Mark Wilkus, and three companions walked across the field. The other boys saw one of the bombs sticking in the ground and yelled for him to stay away. Mark bent down to examine the bomb and it went off in his face.

Lt. Gerald Smith of the local police department stepped to a microphone, told the audience what had happened and asked the persons responsible for planting the bombs to come to the area.

Three 18-year-old members of the graduating class appeared, Lt. Smith said, and told him of wiring, planting and setting the time bombs to go off as a prank. The boys were in custody, and charges were delayed pending the outcome of an investigation.

Twelve minutes after the Negroes arrived, Sheriff Bill Joyce ordered them to disperse. When they refused, he ordered the group arrested for contempt of court.

While being herded 10 blocks to county jail, the Negroes chanted: "Freedom, Freedom, Freedom," their favorite antisegregation chant.

No Shortage Of Sugar In U.S. Expected

NEW YORK (AP)—No shortage of sugar is threatened in the United States, the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange said today, despite roller coaster activity of sugar prices and talk about hoarding.

In a memorandum to three congressional committees investigating the sugar situation, the exchange quoted the U.S. Agriculture Department as saying that commitments from friendly nations exporting sugar indicates that the normal requirements of the United States will be met.

The exchange said the memorandum is designed to correct some misunderstanding of the role played by commodity exchanges in the free enterprise marketing system.

Among the points stressed is that exchanges neither buy nor sell commodities at any time for their own account.

The congressional investigations developed from the belief of some members of the Senate and House that the quick rise from about 2½ to more than 12 cents a pound for raw sugar was caused in part by deliberate withholding by suppliers seeking exorbitant profits.

Sugar prices have dropped in recent days after skyrocketing.

The coffee and sugar exchange said the rise in sugar prices "is directly traceable to supply and demand. World sugar production has fallen while the world's consumption of sugar is rising."

Kennedy Puts Wreath On Unknowns Tomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy led the nation Thursday in honoring the dead of its wars.

Pope

was immediately summoned to the papal apartment.

Apparently the setback did not become critical immediately.

Manzini said Dr. Mazzoni remained in the apartment and that the Pope, by 6:30 a.m., was able to hear Mass celebrated in the study next to the bedroom. Manzini said the Pope also received communion.

At 9 a.m., with the Pope still feeling pain, his Rome surgeon, Pietro Valdoni, was summoned.

Manzini said Valdoni "ascertained an increased gravity in the Pope's condition."

The newspaper director said the Pope was informed and asked to receive extreme unction, a sacrament of holy oils and prayers administered by a priest. The request showed the Pope was conscious.

Physicians knew the Pope's stomach growth, gastric heteroplasia, was a continuing threat and had cautioned him to take things easy.

But he had been gaining strength.

One of the Pope's doctors quoted him as saying he hoped to see the conclusion of the Ecumenical Council, scheduled to reopen Sept. 8 and last until Christmas. This was viewed as an indication that Pope John might soon return to work despite his ailment.

He was stricken a year ago, but continued his work between crises.

It appeared he was counting on going on indefinitely, though he has said repeatedly he is ready for death.

He had maintained that his duties as supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church demanded that he make every sacrifice, even if continued work meant his life.

Manzini said the Pope said he was sure the Ecumenical Council work would be concluded.

Chevalier Degree

DeMolays To Honor 2

Harding Chapter of the Order of DeMolay will elevate David A. Hoffman and Roger J. Hicks to the rank and degree of Chevalier at a special ceremony in the Masonic Temple Saturday evening at 8.

Degree of Chevalier, the highest honor an active DeMolay can receive, is a citation for outstanding and marked activity. A nominee must be 17 or older and a holder of the Representative DeMolay Award. They will be the fourth and fifth local DeMolays to receive this distinction since the chapter's reactivation in 1958, and the 24th and 25th Chevaliers since the awarding of the chapter's charter in 1923.

This degree is awarded by the International Supreme Council at its annual session, which was at Tampa, Fla., this year in April.

Each will be awarded a ring, cordon, medallion, and patent.

Hoffman is presently serving the chapter as master councilor, while Hicks, holder of the Past Master Councilor's Meritorious Award, completed his term of office in March. Both are holders of the Blue Honor Key, awarded to a DeMolay who secures 10 new members for the chapter.

Hoffman also 6th District treasurer, holds 56 merit bars and Hicks, past district chairman, has 53.

Homer D. Hoffman, district deputy governor and chapter advisor, will be the commander in the East for the investing team, along with J. Clifford Conley, commander in the West; William H. Lowe, commander in the South; Samuel W. Brown, grand marshal, and Robert Kidd, grand chaplain. H. Judson English will be master of ceremonies. The event is open to the public.

No Shortage Of Sugar In U.S. Expected

NEW YORK (AP)—No shortage of sugar is threatened in the United States, the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange said today, despite roller coaster activity of sugar prices and talk about hoarding.

In a memorandum to three congressional committees investigating the sugar situation, the exchange quoted the U.S. Agriculture Department as saying that commitments from friendly nations exporting sugar indicates that the normal requirements of the United States will be met.

The exchange said the memorandum is designed to correct some misunderstanding of the role played by commodity exchanges in the free enterprise marketing system.

Among the points stressed is that exchanges neither buy nor sell commodities at any time for their own account.

The congressional investigations developed from the belief of some members of the Senate and House that the quick rise from about 2½ to more than 12 cents a pound for raw sugar was caused in part by deliberate withholding by suppliers seeking exorbitant profits.

Sugar prices have dropped in recent days after skyrocketing.

The coffee and sugar exchange said the rise in sugar prices "is directly traceable to supply and demand. World sugar production has fallen while the world's consumption of sugar is rising."

Kennedy Puts Wreath On Unknowns Tomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy led the nation Thursday in honoring the dead of its wars.

As ranks of servicemen stood at present arms, bayonets gleaming in the sun, the President placed a red, white and blue wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery.

Pope

was immediately summoned to the papal apartment.

Apparently the setback did not become critical immediately.

Manzini said Dr. Mazzoni remained in the apartment and that the Pope, by 6:30 a.m., was able to hear Mass celebrated in the study next to the bedroom. Manzini said the Pope also received communion.

At 9 a.m., with the Pope still feeling pain, his Rome surgeon, Pietro Valdoni, was summoned.

Manzini said Valdoni "ascertained an increased gravity in the Pope's condition."

The newspaper director said the Pope was informed and asked to receive extreme unction, a sacrament of holy oils and prayers administered by a priest. The request showed the Pope was conscious.

Physicians knew the Pope's stomach growth, gastric heteroplasia, was a continuing threat and had cautioned him to take things easy.

But he had been gaining strength.

One of the Pope's doctors quoted him as saying he hoped to see the conclusion of the Ecumenical Council, scheduled to reopen Sept. 8 and last until Christmas. This was viewed as an indication that Pope John might soon return to work despite his ailment.

He was stricken a year ago, but continued his work between crises.

It appeared he was counting on going on indefinitely, though he has said repeatedly he is ready for death.

He had maintained that his duties as supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church demanded that he make every sacrifice, even if continued work meant his life.

Manzini said the Pope said he was sure the Ecumenical Council work would be concluded.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Finds Life 'Wonderful' Now

A homemaker who has just turned 50 writes: "What I'm asking for is a miracle. I weigh 350 pounds. I've been on at least 20 diets but I've never had the will power to stay with it. Am I too old to reduce now? Please help me!" she implored.

Ida Jean Kain

Let another homemaker help you achieve a miracle. At the time she started to diet she was 58 years old, weighed 441 pounds and wore size 64. I am personally acquainted with this reducer, and it is a joy to tell you her story. Ordinarily I do not mention names. LouAnna Hoskinson of Cleveland tells her name in order to give her story authenticity and to encourage others to reduce. Today she weighs 189 pounds and wears size 20 beautifully.

At age 13, unable to take the ribbing of her classmates, LouAnna quit school. What caused her to gain so much? "As a child I lived on a farm with my grandparents. It was a lonely life, so I ate all the time," she told me.

AT 18, LOUANNA weighed 300 pounds. She held that weight until she was 45 and then she started—gaining. Handicapped by all that fat, she couldn't get out with people or even fit into a seat at the movies. Her weight climbed to 441 pounds. Faced with the choice of losing weight or losing her life, she started dieting.

Mrs. Hoskinson credits her success in large measure to TOPS, the national organization which stands for Take Off Pounds Sensibly. "The sympathy, fellowship and encouragement of the members of our group known as LIGHTER TOPS, helped me to lose 150 pounds in eight months," she said.

I met Mrs. Hoskinson when I talked at a TOPS convention in Ohio. We had tea together and then we took a walk, just for the sheer joy of walking. When she was burdened with that mountain of flesh she could scarcely move, let alone walk.

At one time in her reducing program this dieter ran into serious trouble. Over-zealous to lose fast, she cut down too drastically. Finally on semi-starvation rations, instead of losing, she started to gain.

This was a false gain and represented an edema, caused by dangerous malnutrition. Alarmed, she went to a specialist. The doctor raised her calories to 1,200 a day, high in all the body replenishing nutrients. She had ample protein at each of the three meals, and a protein pick-up midmorning and afternoon.

At present her weight is 189 pounds for her 5 feet 5½. She would like to weigh 150 pounds, but is wisely leaving that decision to her doctor. At 63 she is a healthy, happy woman. "Tell your dieters that if I could get down to right weight, any overweight can. Urge all heavyweights to seek the help of a good medical man," she advised.

LOUANNA Hoskinson is now the star member of KOPS, and fully intends to Keep Off Pounds Sensibly. "Life is wonderful now," she told me happily.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Should Be Prepared For School

If you have a child who will enter first grade next fall you can do much before then to prepare him for this new experience. You will, of course, have him checked carefully by your physician and dentist and follow their advice. You yourself will take stock of his health habits.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Aim also to practice him in other good family regulations. See that he learns to respect the rights of others in the family. See that he learns to wait on himself and do everything for himself he is able to do—that he is self-reliant; also that he takes good care of his own things.

—:—

HELP HIM GROW self-reliant emotionally, not too dependent on you but feeling comfortable for reasonable periods of time out of your presence, under the supervision of a responsible person.

See that he is able to amuse himself for longer and longer periods and to enjoy normal fun with other children of his age. Study him in relation to these children, especially while they are in your home, and guide him in learning to be a good playmate.

Regulate and limit the amount of time he may view TV. Forbid his watching programs of violence.

Make sure he has useful habits for safety, obedience and respect for the rights of other persons. Try to guide him so well in a cheerful, serene atmosphere of understanding, love and security that you may hope for him to do right while away from you.

Provide him with ample tools and playthings and help and encourage him in their careful and creative uses at school. Encourage him to paint, draw and make things from paper, cardboard and clay. The more he does of such at home, the better he will be able to do it at school.

MOST OF ALL you should read to him; nothing is better for cultivating habits of concentration and getting ready to read. Enjoy his creations, stimulate his curiosity, answer all his questions kindly, explain things to him and encourage him to talk; learn to enjoy companionable conversation with him.

Parents of children, two or three, do well to consider the foregoing right away in getting their children ready to begin school.

A wonderful booklet on getting the young child ready to enter school is "Happy Journey", to be had for 75 cents of the National Education Association, 1201 16th St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Why Read to Baby and Young Child?" may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Mayor, Reporter Victim Of Cancer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wilmer F. Carmichael, 73, "the old gray mayor" of nearby Silverton and a Cincinnati police reporter for 55 years, died of cancer at Good Samaritan hospital Thursday night.

Carmichael broke into news work as a teen-age copy boy for The Associated Press, then joined the old Commercial Tribune, changed to the Cincinnati American and moved to the Times-Star in 1921.

He continued on the police beat after the Times-Star merged with the Post in 1958. Carmichael finally left the old City Hall press room early this year to work as a suburban reporter for the Post & Times-Star.

He had been mayor of Silverton since 1951.

Bees Coaxed From Office At City Dump

Incinerator Supt. John Melvin can rest easy today for the first time in six months — that swarm of bees is gone from his office at the landfill dump in Bloomfield!

The honey bees were "tenants" inside the walls of the small frame structure before the city acquired title. It was moved to the dump from a spot in California Hollow, one of several structures razed or shifted to new locations to clear the right-of-way for the second stage of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway.

Melvin was in no position to look the gift horse in the mouth at the time because his own office had been damaged severely in a fire.

But shortly after he moved into his new quarters, he heard an ominous buzzing sound. Investigation disclosed that the swarm of bees was making its home inside the walls. They used a knothole to enter and leave their "hive."

The bees were comparatively quiet through the cold winter months. But the recent sunny days brought them to life again and encouraged Melvin to seek a method for their removal.

As he passed Central Fire Station a few days ago, he saw a man calmly removing a swarm of bees which had clustered on a parked auto. That give him the answer. He approached the bee expert, who turned out to be John Quick of 6th St. Rd., Newell.

Quick agreed to go to the landfill dump and take care of Melvin's bee problem. He showed up for the job Wednesday. After the incinerator crew had pulled off a couple of pieces of siding from the building, Quick calmly extracted the bees and many big blobs of honey that they had stored for food.

Quick took both the bees and the honey, eliminating the city's problem.

He told Melvin the bees apparently had been making their home inside the wall for two years. Quick removed the bees without smoke or any other controls and apparently was not bitten in the process, Melvin said.

West End Motorist's Trial Slated June 10

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until June 10 at 9:30 a. m. in the hearing for Jessie James Flowers, 927 Fairview St., charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The continuance was granted the West End man at the request of his counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson. The attorney said he entered the case shortly before the arraignment this morning, so he requested time to prepare the defense.

Flowers was taken into custody by police Tuesday night after two motorists halted him on a supermarket's parking lot on Dresden Ave. The two told police they tooted their horns to halt Flowers because his car was weaving erratically on the highway.

Road To Freedom Closing

Communists Relentlessly Block Refugees' Escape

LONDON (AP) — The Communists are relentlessly closing the escape hatches through which over 10 million refugees have slipped to freedom since the end of World War II.

Once over a million a year made it. Now there is only a trickle flowing through cracks in the Red walls.

In the month before the Communists walled off Berlin, 30,000 East Germans escaped to the Western half of the divided city. Now about 12 persons a week succeed in defying nearly impossible odds to reach West Berlin.

In the five months following the abortive 1956 uprising, 170,000 Hungarians poured into Vienna, once a haven for fleeing East Europeans. Now two or three Hungarians a month make it across the 200-mile border with Austria, mostly in winter when frozen ground offers protection against land mines.

During the Korean War 2 million North Koreans risked their lives under gunfire from both sides, racing across heavily mined battlefields to South Korea. Today the boundary is tightly sealed, halting the refugee flow.

Last fall more than 10,000 refugees from Red China crossed into Hong Kong and the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao every month. Last month the figure dropped to 2,000.

In North Viet Nam and Chinese-ruled Tibet the flight of refugees has all but stopped.

There are no accurate estimates of the number killed or injured while trying to escape. About 50 persons have lost their lives trying to flee to West Berlin since the wall was built. Some were shot. Others drowned while trying to swim canals or lakes. A few died jumping off buildings.

Communist military power, however, is not the only reason for the swindling rate of refugees.

The slump in desertion from Red China, for example, also arises from increased food production on the Chinese mainland and tighter border controls clamped down by British authorities to keep over-populated Hong Kong from starving.

Others have preferred to live under communism. Since 1959, 79,281 Koreans living in Japan have chosen to be repatriated to Communist North Korea.

Still, as indicated by the more than 250,000 Cuban exiles in the United States, the flight from communism continues.

Ecuador Holds 2 U.S. Tuna Boats, Cites Illegal Act

SALINAS, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador held 21 tuna boats from San Diego, Calif., today for alleged illegal fishing within its territorial waters.

Two boats, the White Star and the Ranger, faced charges originally. But Commander Francisco Espinosa of the navy general staff said Thursday night the fleet of 21 would be impounded and the captains tried if they lacked proper permits.

Nineteen of the boats reported they accompanied the White Star and Ranger to port in a show of solidarity. The navy said, however, its warships escorted all the tuna boats to this port, 225 miles southwest of Quito.

The tuna skippers claim they fished 13 miles offshore, while Ecuador contends they were only 3 miles off shore. The United States recognizes only a three-mile territorial limit.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk demanded release of the White Star and the Ranger and called for negotiations to settle the dispute.

U.S. Justice Gives State Courts Advice

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. says state courts can minimize unwanted intrusion by federal tribunals by adopting procedures that are swift, simple and free of technical pitfalls.

Brennan spoke Thursday at the 11th annual meeting of the Advisory Council of Judges. The council, whose 50 members are judges of federal and state courts, is an arm of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

At 'Mrs. Collins Night'

Retiring Industry Teacher Honored By PTA

Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, teacher for nearly 30 years including 19 years at Logan School in Ohio View, was honored on her retirement with a "Mrs. Collins Night" sponsored by the Industry Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday at the Western Beaver County Junior-Senior High School.

A third grade teacher at Logan School since 1944, Mrs. Collins was graduated from California State Teachers College in 1912.

She taught in Washington and Westmoreland County Schools until she married in 1921, then did only substitute teaching until 1941 when she began a full-time schedule at Forest Hill School. She taught all grades there until coming to the Logan School in 1944. She resides at 1033 Midland Ave., Midland. Her husband died in 1937 in California, Pa. She also taught Midland High School night classes several terms.

Glenn Roberts, superintendent of community relations at Crucible Steel Co., and Meredith were principal speakers at the program.

Mayor W. B. MacBride of Industry gave the welcome address and Muns was toastmaster.

Skits, "Past" and "Future," were presented by present and former members of the PTA, and the Western Beaver School Chorus, sang under the direction of Leo Curto, music supervisor.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Collins by Mrs. McCreery.

'March Toward Equality'

Los Angeles Seen Target In Birmingham-Style Act

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A minister active in the integrationist movement says Los Angeles will be the target of Birmingham-style efforts to force "a total community" that is nonsegregated.

The Rev. Maurice A. Dawkins, a spokesman for the Los Angeles chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, put it this way Thursday in discussing the plan with newsmen:

"Los Angeles will be the focal point for our march toward equality. We have the largest Negro population here of any city west of the Mississippi.

"We are not asking for a small specific adjustment, but a total community integration."

The Negro clergyman, who returned only recently from visits to Alabama and Washington, D.C., frequently has participated in prayers involving integration—some of them conducted on the steps of the Los Angeles City Hall.

After last Tuesday, when a general election established that Los Angeles will have three Negroes on the 15-member City Council, there were immediate predictions by the principals and others that considerable civil rights legislation would be pressed. But there was no mention by the councilmen of any organized effort along that line.

The Rev. Mr. Dawkins, however, said Negro leaders will meet next week to plan strategy and a timetable for "a general attack."

He conceded that discrimination in Los Angeles is confined largely to the "de facto" consequences of jobs and housing. In that connection, he said that labor unions would be a target of the campaign.

"We have found," he said, "that in many instances the unions are worse than management in discrimination against the Negro."

The Rev. Mr. Dawkins is pastor of the People's Independent Community church.

County Home Open For Visiting Sunday

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners said today they hope that persons interested in conditions at the county home will visit the home to see for themselves Sunday between 2 and 9 p.m., when open house will be held.

The home has been somewhat of a political football for the past four years with charges and counter-charges being fired by both Democrats and Republicans.

Last week, a letter signed by 28 county Democrats, including Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, asked answers to several questions concerning the management and cost of repairs being made at the home.

The questions were answered by the Republican county commissioners who then set up the open house for public inspection. Persons may visit the home any time, however, Walter Hunston, commissioners president, said.

Bed No Place For Pet Leopard, Bride Says

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A wedding bed is no place for a pet leopard, says Patricia Spades.

And unless, Tinker Bell, a 10-week old leopard, learns to sleep in a cage, Miss Spades' marriage to Frank Michelberger is off.

Tinker Bell only likes to sleep with her master.

"Patricia and Tinker Bell just don't seem to hit it off right," said Michelberger Thursday. "I just wanted to see how far one could go to make a wild animal tame."

"I like the little stinker," countered Patricia, "but I'm darned if it's going to sleep in our bed."

Michelberger didn't enlighten newsmen as to his next move.

Kennedy Budget Reduction Seen As 'Reasonable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A businessmen's committee organized last month to rally support for President Kennedy's tax cutting plans has declared a reduction in his 1964 budget is "reasonable and practicable."

"We have had large, progressive increases in recent years and there is no justification for a continuation of the upward trend," the committee of industrialists and financiers headed by Henry Ford II said Thursday.

The businessmen did not say how much they thought the $98.8-billion budget for 1964, the largest in history, should be cut. However, they said they do not favor a reduction as great as the $10-billion tax cut they have recommended.

The committee calls itself the Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963.

None Hurt In Blasts, Fire At Oil Refinery

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Rupture of a line carrying hydrocarbon gas at the Sun Oil Co.'s giant refinery caused two sharp explosions and a small fire Thursday night. No injuries were reported.

Herbert Thober, the refinery manager, said damage probably would be minor. The fire was under control in just over one hour. Plant firemen and 12 units from the Toledo Fire Department fought the blaze.

Thober said the break was in the $8 million napthalene plant, which was to have been closed down for an overhaul Monday. He couldn't determine if the explosions were related to the shutdown operation.

The company kept firemen at the plant throughout the night and permitted the gas to burn off harmlessly.

Air Base Will Close To Public On June 7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lockbourne Air Force Base will be closed to the public June 7 as the base carries out a practice wartime mission exercise under simulated enemy nuclear attack conditions.

Sirens will be used to warn of various simulated conditions, base officials said. The exercise, called Great Effort, will be confined to the base.

U.S., Britain Plan To Guard Currency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain have agreed to raise from $50 million to $500 million a reciprocal currency arrangement designed to guard the stability of the dollar and the pound.

The arrangement between the Federal Reserve Board and the Bank of England permits a tenfold increase in the amount of currency that can be exchanged by the two countries if either the pound or the dollar is threatened by speculation.

Colombia Terrorists Get Arms From Cuba

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Official sources reported today that arms being used by terrorists in Colombia were shipped from Cuba.

They said captured carbines in Colombia bore serial numbers of weapons once shipped by the late Dictator Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo to his friend, Dictator Fulgencio Batista in Cuba. They thus fell into the hands of Fidel Castro when he ousted Batista in 1959.

None Hurt In Blasts, Fire At Oil Refinery

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Rupture of a line carrying hydrocarbon gas at the Sun Oil Co.'s giant refinery caused two sharp explosions and a small fire Thursday night. No injuries were reported.

Herbert Thober, the refinery manager, said damage probably would be minor. The fire was under control in just over one hour. Plant firemen and 12 units from the Toledo Fire Department fought the blaze.

Thober said the break was in the $8 million napthalene plant, which was to have been closed down for an overhaul Monday. He couldn't determine if the explosions were related to the shutdown operation.

The company kept firemen at the plant throughout the night and permitted the gas to burn off harmlessly.

Sirens will be used to warn of various simulated conditions, base officials said. The exercise, called Great Effort, will be confined to the base.

U.S., Britain Plan To Guard Currency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain have agreed to raise from $50 million to $500 million a reciprocal currency arrangement designed to guard the stability of the dollar and the pound.

The arrangement between the Federal Reserve Board and the Bank of England permits a tenfold increase in the amount of currency that can be exchanged by the two countries if either the pound or the dollar is threatened by speculation.

Colombia Terrorists Get Arms From Cuba

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Official sources reported today that arms being used by terrorists in Colombia were shipped from Cuba.

They said captured carbines in Colombia bore serial numbers of weapons once shipped by the late Dictator Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo to his friend, Dictator Fulgencio Batista in Cuba. They thus fell into the hands of Fidel Castro when he ousted Batista in 1959.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Even Bride Won't Make Adam Happy

Like any good gossip columnist, I got right on the phone to Adam Cartwright after hearing he is to take himself a bride on the "Bonanza" show next season.

Hal Humphrey

To read producer David Dortort's announcement of the coming nuptials, it sounded like the romance of of the century.

"We will show how romance flourishes most often in real life, how people discover each other's weaknesses and strength and ultimately find they are right for one another," Dortort lyricized.

OUR GROOM-TO-BE, however, doesn't share Dortort's enthusiasm. Pernell Roberts, who plays eldest son Adam Cartwright, has been trying unsuccessfully to get out of "Bonanza" for over a year.

"I couldn't care less," says Roberts about the plans to marry him off in the series. "I still want out, but I'll have to hang for two more years because of my contract."

Last year, Roberts went to Mort Werner, NBC's vice president in charge of programming, and even threatened to go on suspension.

"I've talked with Werner twice. One time he tells me one thing, then something else the next. I've given up," Roberts adds, disgustedly.

-:-

PRODUCER DORTORT insists that Roberts isn't that all - fired unhappy ("he receives more fan mail than any of the others"), but Dortort is either deaf or possesses the toughest hide in TV.

Besides bringing in a bride for Adam (unchosen yet), Dortort also is adding another male character who will bunk at the Cartwrights' Ponderose pad.

"Maybe," I say to Roberts, "this means they will let you take your new spouse and vamoose, and the other guy will move in and take your place."

"I hope so, but I doubt it."

"Did they tell you about the marriage gimmick?"

"Yes, at the end of last season they asked me what I thought, but that was just to make me feel I belong. They do what they want to anyway. I told them I didn't have any feeling about a bride, one way or the other."

-:-

ROBERTS' big beef with "Bonanza" is that it is "bad literature" and in four seasons hasn't improved. When well-meaning friends and colleagues remind him that "you can't argue with success," Roberts replies, "That, I say, is a degenerate point of view."

This frankness of Roberts is a constant source of embarrassment to Dortort, the sponsors and the network, but evidently they would rather absorb the insults, almost anything, than consider breaking up that happy, hard-working, hard-living Cartwright family.

On tour with his own bride of a few months, Roberts recently was asked by an interviewer which of last season's 'Bonanza" episodes he liked best.

"The ones I wasn't in," came his ready reply.

WHY DOESN'T HE go on suspension, and why did he join the Cartwright clan in the first place?

First, he was advised that jumping his contract would not be the smartest thing he ever did. Hollywood employers have "bad boy" lists for people like that.

Roberts' answer to the second question is that he got sucked into "Bonanza" on the promise there would be some honest writing and that the people producing it had integrity.

To Roberts' way of looking at it, the writing has been adolescent and the integrity is still on the shelf.

The coming "marriage" of Adam, by the way, is going to have a considerable buildup next fall.

"THIS WILL TAKE some time," says producer Dortort. "We're not sure what we're looking for. The chemistry between the two has to be right, or the audience won't accept the marriage. I feel like a combination father-in-law and marriage broker."

I read this quote to Roberts and then wished him luck.

"Yeah," he replied, "and remember mental health."

Two Bouquets Added At Crypt Of Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two bouquets were added to Joe DiMaggio's traditional red roses at the crypt of Marilyn Monroe in Westwood Memorial Park on Memorial Day.

One of the extra bouquets came from the famed ex-baseball player, who was a former husband of the late movie queen. Miss Monroe died of an overdose of medication last August.

The other came from Kay Carr, 12, of Deerfield, Ill., who never saw the actress except on the screen. She sent $2 to the cemetery and asked that a bouquet be placed for Marilyn's birthday Saturday. She described herself as "only a fan."

West Virginia Wrecks Kill 3 On Memorial Day

Memorial Day traffic accidents took at least three lives in West Virginia, raising the state's traffic death toll for the year to 138, compared to 150 on this date a year ago.

Two young men from Ohio were killed yesterday when their car skidded off W. Va. 10 and slammed into a tree on Twelve-Mile Mountain, 20 miles south of Hamlin.

The victims were Ernest William Simpkins, 22, and Irvin Gale Brown, 24, both of Portsmouth, Ohio. Two teen-aged boys in the car were hospitalized with injuries.

A Wyoming County boy died yesterday of injuries suffered in a collision Wednesday night near Fanrock, in Wyoming County. He was Marty Dean Brewster, 7, of Indian Creek, near Pineville.

The boy was riding in a car driven by his uncle when the accident occurred.

$175,000 Damage Set In Fire At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Firemen, hampered by the threat of explosions from highly volatile shoe dye thinner, fought a blaze for more than six hours Thursday that heavily damaged a three-story leather goods store and apartment building in downtown Columbus.

Nine persons who lived in upstairs apartments were left homeless by the fire, which apparently started in the basement of a leather goods store at 31 W. Town St. owned by Alex Kaetzel. There was no official damage estimate, but unofficial estimates went as high as $175,000.

More than 50 firemen and 16 pieces of equipment were used against the two-alarm fire. Several firemen were treated with oxygen for smoke inhalation but returned to duty.

Fire department officials said that the cause of the fire had not been determined.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. My problem is a psychiatrist.

I have been in analysis for almost seven months and have made good progress. I'm able to get out of bed in the morning and go to work, which is more than I could manage a year ago. But—I pay my doctor $25 for what is supposed to be a 45-minute session and he never gives more than 35 minutes.

During those 35 minutes he accepts telephone calls (last week three) and he made one telephone call on his own. He frequently excuses himself to go to the washroom on my time. Last week he left and was gone for 12 minutes.

Yesterday while I was free-associating he ate an apple and read the newspaper. I don't think he heard a word I said.

May I hear your opinion on this?—RIGHT OR WRONG?

Dear Right or Wrong: The next time you "free-associate," unload your feelings and let him have it with both barrels. And eat an apple while you're at it.

If the analyst feels you should see someone else he'll tell you. I am not suggesting a change of doctors, however, since you seem to be making progress and this is what really matters.

And Hubby Makes 5

Dear Ann: Counting my husband, I have five kids. Don always has helped at home cheerfully and willingly and I thought it was mighty nice of him until I learned what a big deal he was making of it at the office.

One of Don's colleagues informed me "for my own good" that he should not be doing my work because he is too important a man in the business.

"He should be saving his energy for his career," she said. She also volunteered to give him the life he deserved if I should feel inclined to set him free.

Miss "Goodheart" was transferred out of town last year but they still keep in touch professionally.

This summer my husband gets an expense-paid trip to Europe. He has been promising for five years that if the company ever sent him abroad he would take me along. Well, you guessed it. Now we can't afford it—unless I decide to use the money we have saved for a bigger house.

"Miss Goodheart" will of course be in Europe at the convention—with bells on. I'm dying to go and the decision is mine, but we need a bigger house and it will be another year before he can afford it if I blow the money on the trip. What do you say?—GREEN EYES.

Dear Eyes: Start packing. You've lived in the house this long, so another year won't kill you.

And when you tell your husband of your decision, leave "'Miss Goodheart" out of it. No man has to go to Europe to see abroad.

Teen-Agers 'Beef'

Dear Ann: This letter is from a teen-ager who agrees with you 9 times out of 10.

My question is this: Why is it that when you print something that supports parents they can't wait to shove it in our faces? More than once I've found your column pinned to my pillow or lying on my dinner plate. Yet when you stick up for teen-agers my parents never say a word. Sometimes, in fact, they try to ditch the newspaper.

I say if you are going to be used as an authority then your advice should be accepted ALL the time, and not just when it suits our parents' purposes. Please comment. — BATTLING BONNIE.

Dear Bonnie: No advice should be followed slavishly because circumstances alter cases. But a parent who is unwilling to give an inch, or admit that teens do have a point, will lose out because he will be considered opinionated and unjust.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

NLRB To Air Charge Of Unfair Practice

CINCINNATI (AP)—A construction worker's charge that he was unfairly fired at a union's request will be aired at a hearing set for June 27 by the National Labor Relations Board.

The unfair labor practice charge was filed by Clarence Dison Jr., who said Local 290, AFL-CIO International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, got the Marion Contracting Corp. to fire him April 3 because he did not belong to the labor organization.

Dison said he was working on the Marion - based company's Clinton-Massie job site near Wilmington when he was fired.

Wellsville Kaycees Ask Roof Repair Bids

Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council 507 is receiving bids for the repair or replacement of the roof of the council home on Riverside Ave.

Plans for the project were discussed at a meeting Tuesday night.

James McPeak, grand knight, and John Kozora reported on the 64th annual state K. of C. convention over the weekend at Columbus. They were the delegates. Donald W. Emerson of Bay Village was elected new state deputy.

Movies were screened. Officers will be elected Tuesday, June 11.

Everything's Ducky For Adopted Mallard

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Cee Gee, a prospective mother duck, doesn't have to worry about the eight eggs in her nest—she has the Coast Guard guarding them.

The mallard, who took up residence on a bridge piling, has been adopted by and named after the nearby Coast Guard recruiting station. The guardsmen have even been assigned duty sections to feed Cee Gee and orders have been issued to those crossing the bridge to "tread carefully and softly."

Railroad Clerks Seek Wage Hike, Fight Jobs Loss

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks has told of plans to join other rail unions in a drive to raise wages and keep railroad jobs from being eliminated.

The list of proposals to be submitted today for a new contract also include increased vacation and insurance benefits.

As announced by officials of the Cincinnati-based union Thursday night, the proposals call for a 29-cent hourly wage hike effective June 30, with annual raises of 3.5 per cent and a cost-of-living adjustment.

On job eliminations, the unions proposed that "the number of employes in each of the occupational classifications shall be reduced only through normal attrition—not exceeding 2 per cent a year.

"The carrier shall give not less than 90 days' notice to our organization of changes which will affect employes."

Employes who suffer loss because of changes, such as railroad mergers, are entitled to compensation in full, the union said. Those who choose to resign or retire early because of the changes should not be counted as part of the attrition rate.

Holiday Outing Ends In Shooting Death Of Couple

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A holiday outing for two brothers and their wives ended with the shooting death of one couple, according to Clermont County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said William Baker apparently shot and killed his wife, Ada, then fatally wounded himself with a shot in the head.

Investigators said the couple had stopped at their Clermont County home after a holiday drive Thursday with Baker's brother, Elmer Baker, and his wife, Alice, of Cincinnati.

Elmer Baker and his wife waited in the car outside the William Baker home but rushed inside when they heard shots. William Baker was still alive but died later at Mercy Hospital.

Officers said there was no indication of a quarrel or other trouble between the couple.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. My problem is a psychiatrist.

I have been in analysis for almost seven months and have made good progress. I'm able to get out of bed in the morning and go to work, which is more than I could manage a year ago. But—I pay my doctor $25 for what is supposed to be a 45-minute session and he never gives more than 35 minutes.

During those 35 minutes he accepts telephone calls (last week three) and he made one telephone call on his own. He frequently excuses himself to go to the washroom on my time. Last week he left and was gone for 12 minutes.

Yesterday while I was free-associating he ate an apple and read the newspaper. I don't think he heard a word I said.

May I hear your opinion on this?—RIGHT OR WRONG?

Dear Right or Wrong: The next time you "free-associate," unload your feelings and let him have it with both barrels. And eat an apple while you're at it.

If the analyst feels you should see someone else he'll tell you. I am not suggesting a change of doctors, however, since you seem to be making progress and this is what really matters.

And Hubby Makes 5

Dear Ann: Counting my husband, I have five kids. Don always has helped at home cheerfully and willingly and I thought it was mighty nice of him until I learned what a big deal he was making of it at the office.

One of Don's colleagues informed me "for my own good" that he should not be doing my work because he is too important a man in the business.

"He should be saving his energy for his career," she said. She also volunteered to give him the life he deserved if I should feel inclined to set him free.

Miss "Goodheart" was transferred out of town last year but they still keep in touch professionally.

This summer my husband gets an expense-paid trip to Europe. He has been promising for five years that if the company ever sent him abroad he would take me along. Well, you guessed it. Now we can't afford it—unless I decide to use the money we have saved for a bigger house.

"Miss Goodheart" will of course be in Europe at the convention—with bells on. I'm dying to go and the decision is mine, but we need a bigger house and it will be another year before he can afford it if I blow the money on the trip. What do you say?—GREEN EYES.

Dear Eyes: Start packing. You've lived in the house this long, so another year won't kill you.

And when you tell your husband of your decision, leave "Miss Goodheart" out of it. No man has to go to Europe to see abroad.

Teen-Agers 'Beef'

Dear Ann: This letter is from a teen-ager who agrees with you 9 times out of 10.

My question is this: Why is it that when you print something that supports parents they can't wait to shove it in our faces? More than once I've found your column pinned to my pillow or lying on my dinner plate. Yet when you stick up for teen-agers my parents never say a word. Sometimes, in fact, they try to ditch the newspaper.

I say if you are going to be used as an authority then your advice should be accepted ALL the time, and not just when it suits our parents' purposes. Please comment. — BATTLING BONNIE.

Dear Bonnie: No advice should be followed slavishly because circumstances alter cases. But a parent who is unwilling to give an inch, or admit that teens do have a point, will lose out because he will be considered opinionated and unjust.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

NLRB To Air Charge Of Unfair Practice

CINCINNATI (AP)—A construction worker's charge that he was unfairly fired at a union's request will be aired at a hearing set for June 27 by the National Labor Relations Board.

The unfair labor practice charge was filed by Clarence Dison Jr., who said Local 290, AFL-CIO International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, got the Marion Contracting Corp. to fire him April 3 because he did not belong to the labor organization.

Dison said he was working on the Marion - based company's Clinton-Massie job site near Wilmington when he was fired.

Movies were screened. Officers will be elected Tuesday, June 11.

Everything's Ducky For Adopted Mallard

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Cee Gee, a prospective mother duck, doesn't have to worry about the eight eggs in her nest—she has the Coast Guard guarding them.

The mallard, who took up residence on a bridge piling, has been adopted by and named after the nearby Coast Guard recruiting station. The guardsmen have even been assigned duty sections to feed Cee Gee and orders have been issued to those crossing the bridge to "tread carefully and softly."

Railroad Clerks Seek Wage Hike, Fight Jobs Loss

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks has told of plans to join other rail unions in a drive to raise wages and keep railroad jobs from being eliminated.

The list of proposals to be submitted today for a new contract also include increased vacation and insurance benefits.

As announced by officials of the Cincinnati-based union Thursday night, the proposals call for a 29-cent hourly wage hike effective June 30, with annual raises of 3.5 per cent and a cost-of-living adjustment.

On job eliminations, the unions proposed that "the number of employes in each of the occupational classifications shall be reduced only through normal attrition—not exceeding 2 per cent a year.

"The carrier shall give not less than 90 days' notice to our organization of changes which will affect employes."

Employes who suffer loss because of changes, such as railroad mergers, are entitled to compensation in full, the union said. Those who choose to resign or retire early because of the changes should not be counted as part of the attrition rate.

Holiday Outing Ends In Shooting Death Of Couple

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A holiday outing for two brothers and their wives ended with the shooting death of one couple, according to Clermont County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said William Baker apparently shot and killed his wife, Ada, then fatally wounded himself with a shot in the head.

Investigators said the couple had stopped at their Clermont County home after a holiday drive Thursday with Baker's brother, Elmer Baker, and his wife, Alice, of Cincinnati.

Elmer Baker and his wife waited in the car outside the William Baker home but rushed inside when they heard shots. William Baker was still alive but died later at Mercy Hospital.

Officers said there was no indication of a quarrel or other trouble between the couple.

Ashcroft Has Top Average . . .

Rich Ashcroft, the South Side High product, signed last summer by Minnesota, is currently the leading hitter on the Twins' Orlando (Fla.) Club in the Florida State League.

The easy-going Ashcroft, who would be the last person to tell about his own accomplishments, said "my average is misleading because the base hits have just been falling in."

We can't quite believe this, for Ashcroft has had 35 hits in 115 times at the plate for a respectable .304 average. The Hookstown lad also has 13 RBI's to his credit.

Orlando isn't setting the league on fire being settled in seventh place.

Ensinger Seen Star Of Future . . .

RON ENSINGER, former athlete at Beaver Local, established himself as a good future baseball prospect at Bowling Green State University this spring.

Although playing behind three-year all-Mid-American Conference shortstop Jerry Paner, Ensinger played in 12 of the 29 games, being used mostly in pinch-hitting and reserve roles.

His final average was .308 on 4-for-13, including three runs scored and three batted in. He was the only player to hit a fair ball over BG's left field fence this year, blasting a three-run homer against Eastern Michigan.

Coach Dick Young, who directed the Falcons to a 17-11-1 record and a third place finish in the MAC, says of Ensinger, "He should be a real asset to our team next year. Ron is a good hitter, and the experience he gained this year should improve his play at short."

Spare Baseball Diamonds . . .

WILBUR SHAFFER, a Minor League official, has pointed out to us the consistent pranks at the Little League and Minor League baseball fields in the city by youngsters who find they have nothing else to do but tear up home plate, dislodge the rubber on the mound, remove the base pins and strew litter on the playing area.

A lot of hard work on the part of interested volunteers goes into keeping the playing fields in top shape, and to have their efforts wasted by childish acts by unthinking vandals is upsetting to say the least.

Many cities aren't fortunate enough to have such fine diamonds as Hilbert Field and the one in LaCroft, and the necessary personel to maintain them. Every effort should be made to protect their condition.

Jones Spins To New Record In 500

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Parnelli Jones sat in his Agajanian Willard Special and kept repeating:

"I just can't believe it. I just can't believe it."

The 29-year-old Torrance, Calif., driver moved like a man in a dream after his record victory in the rich Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day Classic.

"I just can't get it into my head," Jones said softly into the confusion of the victory celebration around him.

J. C. Agajanian, the car owner, kissed him. Agajanian's wife kissed him. His own wife kissed him.

"You won the race, Rufus," Agajanian shouted to the man who was born Rufus Parnell Jones. "You're the greatest."

Jones, who had won the pole position for the second straight year, was favored in the race, but had to drive his heart out to beat Scotsman Jimmy Clark in a rear-engine Lotus-Ford.

Clark was one of those who complained after the race that Jones car was spilling oil onto the track just before he took the winner's checkered flag.

However, Chief Steward Harlan Fengler refused to wave Jones into the pits.

"You can't take this race away from a man on snap judgment," said Fengler, who also noted that other cars were throwing oil.

No official protest can be filed until race officials meet this morning, but as one veteran of the race remarked, complaints are a tradition the night after the race but "after a night's sleep they're usually forgotten."

Clark, No. 2 in world road racing standings last year, and Dan Gurney, another Grand Prix racer from Costa Mesa, Calif., ran 2-3 behind Jones through the late stages of the race.

After charging his hardest for 3½ hours, Jones crossed the finish line a tick under 34 seconds ahead of Clark.

Jones won't know how much he won until the Indianapolis Motor Speedway cuts up a purse of possibly one-half million dollars at tonight's victory dinner. He knows he won $25,000 in lap prize money for leading 167 of the race's 200 laps. The front runner gets $150 a lap in addition to the main prizes.

The soft-spoken king of the country's sprint tracks, also knows that he had to break the track record by almost three miles per hour to win. He averaged 143.137 m.p.h. in spite of wrecks that forced the field to run under the yellow "hold-your-position" light for almost 50 minutes. Clark averaged 142.752 m.p.h.

The first five finishers broke the old record.

Nobody was hurt seriously in a series of crashes. Veteran Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, suffered a twisted foot and a back injury when he crasked into the wall on the northeast turn.

Others who banged into the wall included Eddie Sachs, Detroit; rookie Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M.; Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Bud Tingelstad, Dayton, Ohio.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., finished highest of four former winners in the race. He was third. Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, last year's winner, was fourth. Troy Ruttman, Dearborn, Mich., who started last in 33rd place, was 12th, and Jim Rathmann, Melbourne, Fla., was stopped by fuel trouble.

O'Dell Notches 8th In Row

The Review Sports

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1963 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

Bucs Split Double Bill With Phils

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

After years of struggling to reach the break-even point, Billy O'Dell has pitched his way to the plus side of the ledger.

And as an added asset, the left-hander currently owns the most profitable record in big time baseball—a perfect 8-0.

O'Dell, 30, won his eighth in a row Thursday night as the San Francisco Giants topped the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 with the help of homers by rookie Cap Peterson and Felipe Alou, the relief work of Bob Bolin, and his own infield single.

The one-time Baltimore bonus baby, who was traded to the Giants in 1959, went into the year with a 63-66 mark to show for six seasons plus in the majors. Now he's rolling and so are the Giants, with a 2½-game lead in the National League race.

Also in the NL, Warren Spahn recorded his 324th pitching victory as the Milwaukee Braves beat the runner-up Los Anglees Dodgers 7-4; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Houston Colts 9-5; the Chicago Cubs whacked the New York Mets 12-0 before the Mets took a 2-1 decision behind Jay Hook's two-hit pitching; and Pittsburgh split with Philadelphia, the Pirates winning the opener 7-1 and the Phillies squeezing by 6-5 in the second game.

Hank Aaron paced the Milwaukee attack as the Braves beat Don Drysdale, whacking his 15th homer, a double and single. Spahn took a 6-1 lead into the eighth inning but then was tagged for Jim Gilliam's homer, Tommy Davis' third single, Bill Skowron's double and a triple by John Roseboro.

Claud Raymond held off the Dodgers the rest of the way, preserving Spahn's seventh victory against three losses.

The Cardinals collected eight unearned runs against the Colts, who committed five errors in losing their fifth in a row. St. Louis' big inning was the six-run third, when the Colts made three errors and Stan Musial belted a three-run homer—the 471st of his career.

Ray Sadecki was the winner with relief help from Ed Bauta, and Dick Farrell the loser.

The Cubs put together the biggest single inning splurge of the season with their 10 runs in the fourth of the opener against the Mets. Sixteen Cubs batted against loser Al Jackson, Larry Bearnarth and Don Rowe.

Larry Jackson coasted in with a six-hit shutout and now is 7-5.

Hook received key offensive support in the second game from Duke Snider, who knocked in both Met runs with his 397th career homer and a single.

Hook, 2-5, set down 21 Cubs in order at one stretch. The loss went to Glen Hobbie, 1-4.

Jerry Lynch banged his first homer since returning to the Pirates from the Reds and Don Cardwell registered a neat eight-hitter in Pittsburgh's rout of Philadelphia.

The Phils gained a split in the second game squeaker, taking the lead by scoring four times in the fifth and adding the deciding marker in the sixth. Wes Covington's two-run pinch homer highlighted the Phils' big inning.

Baltimore Falls; Tribe Drops Two

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Some people are sloughing us off in their pennant predictions. It burns me up and I hope it has the same effect on the players."

The words belong to Minnesota Manager Sam Mele.

Continuing to climb up the standings in the tightening American League pennant scramble, the Twins maintained their sizzling pace Thursday with a 3-2 victory over Washington that accounted for their 10th consecutive victory.

The triumph gave the Twins the longest winning streak in the majors this season. It also left them only one-half game out of the first division after floundering at the tail-end of the standings for the first month of the season.

One of the things Mele has going for him is right-hander Camilo Pascual, who has won three of the 10 games in the streak. Against the Senators, he scattered eight singles and, finding himself short on runs, drove in the winner with a sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

At the top of the standings, Kansas City made it two straight over league-leading Baltimore, beating the Orioles 7-2 and trimming their edge to two games over the runner-up New York Yankees, 6-5 winners in 10 innings at Boston.

The third-place Chicago White Sox closed to within three games of the top with a doubleheader sweep over Cleveland, 8-4 and 4-2, while Detroit whipped the Los Angeles Angels 3-0 behind Hank Aguirre's four-hit pitching in a second division struggle.

National League leading San Francisco edged Cincinnati 5-4, Milwaukee defeated the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 and St. Louis belted Houston 9-5 in single games. The others split doubleheaders. Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 7-1, then lost 6-5 and the Chicago Cubs slugged New York 12-0 before the Mets squeezed by 2-1 in the nightcap.

The A's, who had lost 10 straight to Steve Barber, bombed the Orioles' left-hander for six runs in 5 1-3 innings and handed him his fourth loss against eight victories. Bobby Del Greco collected three hits for Kansas City and Ed Charles hit a two-run homer. Ed Rakow, 6-2, was the winner, but needed John Wyatt's relief help.

Clete Boyer drove in the deciding run for the Yankees with a sacrifice fly in the 10th after the Red Sox had tied the score in the ninth on Ed Bressoud's two-out homer, his second of the game. Roger Maris led the New York attack with his seventh homer, a single and a bases-loaded walk in the seventh inning that broke a 4-4 tie. Ralph Terry went the distance for a 6-4 record.

Ron Hansen played a key role for the White Sox in both come-from-behind victories over the Indians. He smacked a homer in the sixth inning of the opener to snap a 4-4 tie and singled home a run in a four-run fifth inning uprising that wrapped up the nightcap.

Aguirre won for the first time in 5½ weeks and squared his record at 4-4. Home runs by Jake Wood off loser Bob Turley, and Gus Triandos made Aguirre's job easier.

Rigney Still Switching Pitchers At Fast Rate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels faces no serious opposition in his bid to repeat as champion pitcher-switcher.

Only this year he may have to use even more aspirins than pitchers.

Last season, when the Angels pulled off their astonishing third-place finish, Rigney started and changed pitchers 507 times. By September, the electric cart used to transport pitchers from the bullpen to the mound had almost as much mileage as the team plane.

But the formula worked. The Angel bullpen produced more happy endings than the Lone Ranger.

At the rate he's going, Rigney will use even more pitchers this year. Only now he is changing much of the time because he has to, not because he wants to.

"Last year," he said, "we were ahead a lot of times and I could bring in a good relief man to hold the lead. This year we're not scoring.

"So now a lot of times we've got a pitcher in there who's doing a good job but I've got to take him out for a pinch hitter—got to try to get some runs."

Thursday Rigney used six more pitchers—running his total for the season to 153—as the Angels got only one runner beyond second and lost 3-0 to Detroit.

Light Heavy Fight Slated

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson of Philadelphia hopes that a familiar pattern in boxing—a puncher against a boxer—doesn't prevail in his title match with Willie Pastrano Saturday night.

The champion, 34, frankly wants the challenger from North Miami Beach to come to him and not run away in their 15 round nationally televised (ABC) bout.

"If he fights," Johnson said Friday, "somebody is going to get knocked down.

"I won't say it will be him or me but—."

Johnson's manager, Pat Olivieri cut in:

"Pastrano will be the one to go down. When Harold explodes a bomb on his jaw, the lights will go out."

Junior Editors Quiz on COCOA

QUESTION: How is chocolate made?

ANSWER: In certain warm countries such as Brazil, Ghana and Nigeria, which lie not far from the equator, the cacao tree is raised in large numbers. About 25 feet tall, this tree bears small flowers which turn into fruits or pods, each of which contains from 20 to 40 seeds. From these seeds, when fermented, dried, roasted and ground, all chocolate products are made. The first product of the grinding is called "chocolate liquor." This has a rich flavor but is bitter. When cooled into solid form, the liquor becomes unsweetened baking chocolate, which is widely used in flavoring cakes, puddings and desserts. Manufacturers press the fat from the liquor and turn what remains into a fine powder; this is the cocoa which gives us a delicious drink. When extra coco butter and sugar is added to the liquor, we get the sweet and semi-sweet chocolate which is used as a coating for chocolate candies. And when milk solids are added to the last, the result is one of America's favorite foods, milk chocolate.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get your mother to give you a bite of unsweetened baking chocolate. You won't like it as well as the sweetened kind, but it has a taste that makes you think of the tropical countries chocolate comes from.
